HUD Housing Grant in Limbo As a Suitable Site is Sought

The 20 units of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) housing remain in limbo as the Borough, Township, and Princeton University wrestle with locating a site for the low-income rental units.

In the process, the unified housing policy of the two municipalities appears to be in danger of cracking.

"Now the Township is saying it would just as soon not have any units anywhere in the Township. I think we're dealing with a change in attitude," said Borough Mayor Marvin Reed.

Two years ago, Township Mayor Kate Litvack offered West Drive — land donated by the University for affordable housing — for the HUD units. In October, the site was deemed by the State to contain important wetlands that require significant buffering.

After subtraction of the wetlands and the buffering, the original eight acres would be reduced to about 2½ acres of buildable land — approximately the amount needed for the HUD units.

The Township, however, had earlier announced plans to build 72 units on this site. Councilman Mark Freda said the Township has changed its policy and has decided to slow up on construction of these units. "If they slow up, they want to slow up on the HUD units," he said. "The Township has made a strategic decision that it prefers the project not be there."

Four years ago, HUD awarded the Princeton Housing Authority a $1.6 million grant for 20 low-income rental units. The money was for construction only; the site would have to be either municipally owned or donated. Over these years, the grant has increased to $1.9 million, or about $90,000 per unit.

If the units are built, it is almost certain that all 20 would go to families who live or work in Princeton. There is a five-year waiting list for units in the Housing Authority's present HUD housing.

Planning Board Chair Margen Penick offered a look back at the University's role in efforts to locate affordable housing sites.

She told Council members that the Broadmead property had been identified as a site for affordable housing. The University asked that it be removed because it wanted to build something else there. "There was a gentleman's agreement that if Broadmead were removed, the University

Tax Lien on Nassau Inn Bought at Tuesday Sale

A tax lien in the amount of $317,066 for the Nassau Inn was bought by Fred Perkins, 114 Elm Road, during Tuesday afternoon's tax sale at Borough Hall.

After the sale, Mr. Perkins handed over two certified checks in the amount of the back taxes to the Borough tax office. He will receive the lien within ten days. The inn then has two years to pay Mr. Perkins the amount of the back taxes plus 16 percent interest. If the monies are not paid by that time, Mr. Perkins may begin foreclosure proceedings. The inn may pay Mr. Perkins the amount of back taxes, plus interest, at any time until foreclosure.

"Our intention is to redeem the lien in the near future," said Doris Parker-Grossman, chief operating officer and executive vice president of Palmer Square.

In October, Tax Court had refused to hear the Plans for Restoration Of 179-183 Nassau St. Get Favorable Review

The Planning Board found little to object to in the restoration plans for 179-183 Nassau Street as drawn up by Michael Mostoller-Fred Travisano, architects, and presented by Princeton University for concept review last Tuesday. These are the buildings housing Wadsworth Bakery, Thomas Sweet, Zorba's Greek Restaurant and several apartments that were badly damaged in a fire last winter.

"I congratulate you on keeping the facade," Richard Henkel, vice chairman of the board who chaired the meeting, told Mr. Travisano after he described the plan. Number 183 Nassau Street, which housed Thomas Sweet and the Greek restaurant and was less badly damaged, will be renovated and the facade restored exactly as it was before the fire.

The diner in which the fire began will be removed and the facade of number 179, which had been altered when the diner was added, will be would find another site," said Ms. Penick. "The original agreement was for a piece of land. If West Drive doesn't work out, my feeling is to go back to the University."

Mr. Freda said that in "good-faith effort" was continuing among the Borough, Township and University. A meeting was scheduled to be held Wednesday, December 12, to see if a site could be found for the HUD units.

If not, said Mr. Freda, the Borough will have to move in. "Absolutely. We're talking about a subsidy of $90,000 per unit."

"There is a demonstrated need for these units," said Councilman David Goldfarb. "There is a five-year waiting list. We have the grant. I hope we can work out an arrangement with the University and Township on West Drive."

But the Borough is taking no chances. If an agreement cannot be reached with the Township and University on Wednesday, the Borough Affordable Housing Board will discuss finding a site within the Borough at its meeting scheduled the next day, Thursday, December 13.

Shirley Court and the Maclean Street parking lot have been mentioned as possible locations. Both are scheduled sites for the next phase of the Borough's Mt. Laurel affordable housing program.

The possibility of building the 20 HUD units on either of these sites — both situated in the John-Witherspoon neighborhood — disturbed Councilwoman Mildred Trotman.

"I am hard-pressed to believe that, as big as the combined Borough and Township is, we can't find any place but the John-Witherspoon area for these units. They are three- and four-bedroom rental units, and will usually generate more children and more traffic."

Councilwoman Jane Terpstra said, "Our housing is mixed. If concentrated in one neighborhood, it could create a ghetto."

"Not a Ghetto"

"I certainly wouldn't call HUD units a ghetto," responded Mr. Freda. He added that efforts would be made to get the size of the apartments reduced to two- and three-bedrooms, since the need for these is greater.

"Everyone seems to be bailing out at the same time," said Councilman Roger Martindell. He pointed out that the Borough's affordable housing program could cost taxpayers money, and the HUD units represent money from the government. "It might pay for the Borough to be more aggressive," he said. "A lot of money is at stake, and there is very little time to make a decision."

The Housing Authority expects to receive another extension from HUD, until the end of March, said Mr. Freda. At that time, all approvals must be in. In order to meet this deadline — which Mr. Freda said is the final one HUD will grant — a site must be agreed upon by the end of the year.

"It is my understanding that, otherwise, all will disappear," he said.

Christmas Fund Growing

Contributions to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund continue to arrive. Two weeks before Christmas, the fund total stands at $5,714.76.

The money is channeled through Family Service Princeton Area and is used to help people whose needs are not covered by existing municipal or county agencies. During the past several weeks money was spent on medication for an AIDS victim as well as the installation of a phone for a mentally handicapped person. Help was given to three transient people who needed funds and to a diabetic woman who has lost a foot to the disease. It also helped pay the utility bills of several people.

In all these instances, the Fund gives hope.

TOWN TOPICS pays all administrative costs, so that every cent contributed goes to help those who need it. Any amount, large or small, is welcome. Checks may be made payable to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund and sent to this newspaper at P.O. Box 664, Princeton 08542.

Cable Renewal Not Based On Rates, Programming

As it began its efforts to respond to the expiration of C-Tec's franchise in October, 1992, the Borough-Township Joint Cable Advisory Committee last week listened to advice from a State cable television expert on how to proceed with its mission.

"Programming and programming content, as well as rates, are not part of the renewal process," said Dominick F. Picardi, coordinator of the State Office of Cable Television. The process, which must be completed by October, 1991, should instead focus on a review of past performance and an identification of future cable needs of the community," he added.

Mr. Picardi also suggested that the committee conduct a survey in the community and hold separate hearings this spring for the Borough and Township.

Township Committeeman Richard Woodbridge identified five items that were promised Princeton in the original Home Link franchise, but were not currently being provided.

They are, $20,000 per year to the Cable Advisory Committee; local news coverage; local sports coverage; public access to debates of the governing bodies; a security system; and interactive financial and informational services.

Mr. Picardi was asked whether C-Tec, which purchased the Princeton franchise from Home Link, had an obligation to provide these services.

"To the extent they are enforceable under federal and state law, C-Tec has to live up to every commitment," he replied.

One area in which Home Link and C-Tec appear to have met at least some of the franchise agreements is in the schools. Perhaps one reason for this is that Peter Thompson, Princeton Regional's district technical coordinator for the past six years, has continued to ask for what he felt was due the District.

TOPICS Of the Town

Home Link, at the beginning of the franchise period, put a cable converter in each school building. Recently, it added Littlebrook, and has promised to add Johnson Park when it opens.

The high school and middle school were given free access to the Dow Jones news retrieval service. When it was removed by the cable system, it was replaced by modems that could be attached to a computer. C-Tec also added X.press, a data service that provides financial and investment information and a news information service.

In the past, Home Link placed tapes prepared by the schools on Channel 30, the educational channel. Ray Nutkis, the schools' new media resource teacher, is currently talking to C-Tec about doing this again.

Mr. Thompson plans to ask C-Tec to consider improving the studio equipment at the high school. This would pave the way for broadcasting homebound instruction as well as classes at Princeton University for more advanced students.

A member of the audience at the Wednesday night meeting, Arthur Lyding, was concerned about C-Tec's announced intention to remove WGN. Mr. Picardi said the company "can add and delete as it will. It's a first amendment right."

But he also pointed out that there could be a way of working around this. "You are in a little better position to negotiate and talk. they are going to want to be in your good graces since it is a renewal period. This is a golden opportunity to identify the need for government and public access channels."

Township Committeeman Thomas Poole said he would like to see a comparison of the 25 communities in the state

'11th Hour Appointment' Irks GOP Committeeman

Township Mayor Kate Litvack has appointed Benedict Yedlin to the Township Housing Board, succeeding Bernard Miller.

In the absence of the mayor, who was sick with the flu on Monday night, Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand read a letter from Mr. Miller, who wrote that he was accelerating his planned resignation for "personal reasons," and announced Mayor Litvack's appointment of Mr. Yedlin to fill the unexpired term, which is up on December 31, 1991. Mayor Litvack also appointed Sarah Hollister of Ridgeview Road to fill the unexpired term of Charles L. Jaffin who has also resigned. Mr. Jaffin's term is up on December 31, 1992.

"I can't go along with these 11th hour appointments," Township Committeeman Thomas Poole remarked Mr. Poole criticized particularly Mr. Miller's "accelerated" resignation, saying he thought Mr. Miller could have waited until the new year when a new (Republican) Committee is in place. Mr. Miller is an active Democrat who once ran for Township Committee.

"It's just politics, Tom," Deputy Mayor Marchand remarked evenly, pointing out that the Republican administration under former Mayor Gail Firestone had made similar "11th hour" appointments. "I can't remember back that far," Mr. Poole grumbled, but turned the issue into a joke about memory lapse rather than pursue it.

There are unusually few appointments open this year on Township boards and commissions — none at all among the citizen members of the Planning Board, for instance, either for Township residents or Borough residents, although there are two vacancies among the Township members of the Planning Board's Site Plan Review Advisory Board.

The Housing Board, created to help the Township implement its affordable housing program, is losing a key member in John F. Kelsey III, whose four-year term is up at the end of the year. Mr. Kelsey has served as chairman of the Housing Board and has indicated he does not want to be re-appointed.

Mission of Housing Board

The Housing Board is having difficulty fulfilling its mission to get 275 affordable housing units built in the Township, largely due to factors outside its control. The Griggs Farm development has been impacted by the downturn in the real estate market; the West Drive site was found to have more extensive wetlands than originally thought; and the monies that were to be generated by contribution sites are slow in coming, again because of the real estate market.

Sue Repko, the Township housing coordinator, is going on maternity leave in January. At a recent housing board meeting Mr. Kelsey raised the question of whether the Township and Borough housing boards should be merged. A key question is what effect a merger will have on either municipality's approved affordable housing quota

Mr. Yedlin is a longtime Princeton resident, a builder and developer responsible for several office buildings in Princeton and Montgomery Township as well as individual residences and subdivisions. He was the builder of the federally financed 100-unit Redding Terrace housing project, which was built as a turn-key project turned over to the Borough Housing Authority to manage after completion.

Deputy Mayor Marchand was unable to furnish any particulars on Ms. Hollister, other than the fact that she had been recommended for the position on the Shade Tree Commission by Alan Goodheart, whose term is up this year.

In other business, Committee approved amendments to the ordinance regulating fire and burglar alarms in homes and commerical establishments. Owners of alarms will be required to register the alarms annually and pay an annual fee of $10. The purpose is to provide the police with updated information about the alarms and whom to contact in case of a malfunction leading to a false alarm.

Committee also held a public hearing on the abolishment of garbage districts in the Township necessitated by state legislation. It also approved a resolution opposing the Church & Dwight helistop application.

ADOPT A NEIGHBOR

UPDATE

In the true spirit of the season, help us brighten the holidays for: 1) elderly or disabled who are isolated or without family in the area; 2) autistic adults living in group homes; 3) children in homes under stress.

We need your help, quickly, please. Last year we invited you to Adopt-A-Neighbor in need of holiday cheer. The response was over-whelming ... hundreds participated before, during and even after the holidays.

How did it work? In conjunction with Jocelyn Helm and her staff at the Senior Resource Center, we compiled a list of elderly, disabled, autistic adults, and children under stress in our area. Each individual was given three wishes. We listed the wishes in our Nassau Street Window and published them in Town Topics. And you made those wishes come true.

Witnessing the joy of the gift recipients, we can attest to the powerful impact of the program. The level of individual and community involvement also touches us: there was real joy in giving. As one person wrote, "You helped some people get their wishes filled, but you helped others find a way to be generous. Who is to say which was the greater blessing."

HELP US MAKE THE PROGRAM WORK AGAIN!

1) Do you know of a neighbor who is elderly or disabled, who is isolated or without family? Do you know of an autistic individual living away from family? Are you personally aware of a family with children that is going through a difficult time? If you know of someone you would like to see in the program and if they are interested in participating, please call to see if they qualify. For seniors or disabled participants, call the Senior Resource Center at 924-7108. For autistic individuals or children in homes under stress, call The Family Service Agency, Mimi Ballard, at 924-2098. Eligibility is not based on financial need, but on need, period. This is a program of cheer, not charity.

2) All participants need to be registered and their wishes recorded by Friday, December 14th. All gifts should be pledged and delivered to Landau's, 114 Nassau Street, by Friday, December 21st.

3) All of this must be done in the next two weeks, and with your help, we will do it. Spread the true spirit of the season, savor the joy of giving of yourself. Adopt-A-Neighbor!

existing Public Library building on Witherspoon Street and the Epstein's store at the Shopping Center by the Borough and Township engineering and building code staffs.

In a memo to Township Mayor Kate Litvack and Susan Annich, president of the Library board of trustees, Mayor Reed notes that he has appointed three persons to participate with Township and Library representatives in a joint committee to study further the possibility of moving the Library to the former Epstein's building. The three are Councilman Roger Martindell, chair of the Council finance committee; Councilman Mark Freda, member of the Public Works Committee; and Mark Gordon, Borough administrator.

Mayor Reed points out, "This does not commit the Borough Council to any actual expansion program at this time" but does represent the interest of Council members in obtaining further information. The Township members are Richard Woodbridge and Phyllis Marchand.

Mayor Reed says Council assumes that the committee will review the estimates that Harry Levine made in a closed session of Township Committee and Borough Council two weeks ago and will meet further with the owners of the Shopping Center, negotiating a more definitive proposal and reporting back to both municipal governing bodies an "as complete as possible" estimate of costs and budget impact.

The bulk of the memo is about examining the existing library building and the Epstein's building. The technical staff is being asked to report on the structural and operational condition of the library building and what repairs are needed for its continued library use and for commercial or public use. The staff is asked to ascertain at what point the building would have to be "brought up to Code" to continue as a Library and what Code-required improvements would be needed.

Similarly, the staff is asked to assess the structural and operational condition of the former Epstein's building and what repairs are needed to make it suitable for public use as a municipal library. The staff is also asked to estimate what additional operational costs would have to be assumed by the municipalities and/or the library trustees if this building were to be converted to a municipal library.

WPRB 50th Anniversary Celebration Planned

The Princeton University radio station WPRB-FM will celebrate its 50th anniversary on Saturday.

The station is planning a special day of programming, consisting of music of all genres from the past 50 years. In addition, moments from the station's history will be relived throughout the day.

One of the first college radio stations in the country, WPRB was founded in 1940 as WPRU, an AM station broadcasting through the heating pipes of Princeton University. In 1955, WPRU changed its call letters to WPRB and became the first college FM station in the country. In February, 1960, WPRB increased its output to 17,000 watts, making it the largest college station in the world at the time.

In November, 1963, WPRB became the first student owned and operated station to broadcast in stereo. In the mid-1970s, WPRB began airing "Music You Can't Hear on the Radio," hosted by John Weingart, every Sunday night. The show is still running and has garnered critical praise as one of the best folk music shows in New Jersey.

In 1986, WPRB received an award from Spin magazine for excellence in commercial college radio. Former WPRB staff members include Louis Rukeyser, host of Wall Street Week; Charles Gibson, host of Good Morning America; and Stanley Jordan, jazz guitarist.

Subway Sandwich Shop Sought Off Witherspoon

The Planning Board's Site Plan Review Advisory Board will review plans to put a Subway sandwich and salad shop in the repair bays of the former Griggs Corner Amoco Gas Station at Hulfish and Witherspoon Street. SPRAB meets this Wednesday at 7:30 in the Valley Road building meeting room.

According to Gordon Strauss, attorney for Jeffrey A. Schofield of Hampton, N.J., Mr. Schofield seeks site plan approval and a variance to allow him to make alterations to the three repair bays at the rear of the former gas station for a Subway franchise. Subway is a nationwide franchise that serves sandwiches and salads on disposable paper plates, requiring no dishwashing facilities.

Mr. Schofield hopes to have seating for 28 inside the shop and 44 outside in a courtyard between the building and the Collins Development property to the west. A variance is needed for parking, because there is

Choir Fund Raising Dinner

The Princeton High School Choir's winter concert on Thursday, December 20, will be preceded by a special dinner to raise money for the choir's upcoming European tour.

On that day, from 5:30 to 7 at the Nassau Presbyterian Church, caterer Peter Vielbig will present selections of lasagna, vegetarian lasagna, French and Italian breads, green salad, mousse au chocolat, hot cider, coffee or tea. For a price of $15 per person, or $50 per family (immediate family members), people can enjoy dinner and conversation prior to the winter concert at 8 in the Princeton University Chapel.

Since the caterer and the servers are donating their time, the choir is hoping the dinner will raise a substantial amount of money for the European concert tour. During the first two weeks in April, the group plans to perform in cities in France, Germany and Italy, including a concert in the Vatican.

For reservations mail a check made out to Princeton High School Choir Fund to Anne Gormly, 100 Linden Lane, Princeton 08540. For information, call Linda Brophy at 924-6530.

no parking on site. Mr. Strauss is expected to point out that the building is located next to the new Collins parking garages off Hulfish Street and across from the Park and Shop lot next to the Public Library.

He draws a parallel between this application and that of the ICBIY yoghurt shop on Nassau Street, which recently received permission for seating for 11 although it could not provide on-site parking for customers. Mr. Strauss says that like the yoghurt store, the Subway sandwich shop is not what is known in the trades as a "primary destination." People drop by as they are out shopping for other things rather than get in their cars for the express purpose of getting a sandwich at Subway, he says.

Subway has been recommended for an exemption to the sewer connection ban from the Princeton Sewer Operating Committee and the Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority on the grounds that it will generate less than 400 gallons of sewage per day.

The building is owned by Arjay Realty of Westfield, N.J. It also contains the Dunkin' Donuts franchise and a furrier. The adjacent vacant area, where the gas pumps were located, is owned by Dr. and Mrs. Chester Petersen. Mrs. Petersen is the daughter of the late Burnett Griggs, who operated a restaurant on the site.

Ramp for Handicapped Approved by Council

Borough Council last week gave its approval to the construction of a handicap-access ramp in front of Bainbridge House, 158 Nassau Street.

Council's permission to place the ramp in the public right of way is only the first of several approvals the Historical Society must receive before constructing the ramp. It must also seek permission from the State and from Princeton University, which owns the historic building and rents it to the Historical Society for a dollar a year.

The ramp, which is expected to cost between $10,000 and $15,000, will extend a little under five feet from the front door and will be enclosed by an iron fence.

Constance Greiff, president of the Historical Society, said that not only did the Society want to make the building accessible to the handicapped, but that it must do so in order to receive a $225,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

There had been some talk about installing a platform lift in the rear instead of a front ramp. This arrangement would have established a separate entrance for the handicapped, which several on Council felt would not be desirable. In addition, Short and Ford Architect Michael Mills told Council that the State Department of Community Affairs was about to prohibit the use of platform lifts in new construction.

"Disabled people experience great difficulty when the lift is not operating properly," he said.

Councilwoman Jane Terpstra voted against approval because she said the ramp would spoil the Nassau Street streetscape.

"SWEET SUMMER," a photograph by Alexandra Durbetaki of Princeton, was the winner of the $500 second prize in First Constitution Bank's "The Town I Live In" photo contest.

Hodge Home Entered; Two Cars on Road, Too

A home on Hodge Road was entered and ransacked last week and two cars on the same street were entered. In also reporting incidents on nearby Morven Place and Library Place, Lt. Peter Hanley confirmed that the area has been the target of a number of crimes recently.

The owner of a Hodge Road home found a kitchen door unlocked Friday morning but no signs of a forced entry. Missing, however, is approximately $600 in cash, a stereo tape player with speakers valued at $800, a $1,000 VCR, two video cameras worth $800 apiece, an 8mm camera and case valued at $800, a Minolta camera valued at $600, 25 compact discs, an electric heater and a smaller tape player.

Between 12:30 and 7:30 Friday morning, someone entered an unlocked 1991 Mercury parked in the driveway of a Hodge Road home and tried to remove a mounted car phone, damaging the phone in the unsuccessful attempt. "We don't know if anything is missing from the car," said Lt. Hanley.

Lt. Hanley also reported there is evidence that someone entered a 1979 Cadillac parked in an unlocked garage on Hodge Road, but nothing was reported missing from the interior. The entry was discovered Friday morning.

A few minutes after eight Saturday night, a resident of Morven Place came out from his house and found a man sitting in his car parked in front.

When he confronted the suspect and asked what he was doing in his car, the suspect, Lt. Hanley said, put his hand in his pocket and said that he had a knife.

No weapon was seen, there was no altercation and nothing is missing from the car. The suspect is described as a 25- to 30-year-old Hispanic male, 6-3, stocky, weighing over 200 pounds.

The owner of a Library Place home was awakened at 4:30 Sunday morning by a sounding alarm. Lt. Hanley said that an intruder broke a window on the north side of the house attempting to enter and in so doing tripped the alarm.

Police responded and checked the area but were unable to locate the suspect. Nothing is missing from the house. "We don't know if the alarm scared off the suspect prior to entry," Lt. Hanley said.

A car parked in the drive of a home located in the west end of the Borough was entered without force by a thief, who then used a garage opener from the car to open the garage doors and enter the house.

Taken from the house was a travel bag containing a number of clothing items, including a Ralph Lauren hand-tailored wool suit valued at $1,100 and a $900 Burberry trench coat. Total value of the bag and clothing: $3,690.

Lt. Hanley added that the thief also tried to remove a car phone from the car, causing extensive damage to the phone and the car. He declined to reveal the name of the street, saying it was a small street with only a few homes on it.

Earlier in the week, the owner of an apartment building on Humbert Street discovered that the door of an apartment whose occupant was away had been forced open. The doorway has since been secured by the owner but it is not known if anything is missing from the apartment, pending the occupant's return.

Overnight during the weekend, Township police report that someone entered the Mexican Village restaurant on Leigh Avenue without force and stole $288 in cash and credit card slips totalling $450 from a location in the restaurant. The theft was discovered at 1 Saturday afternoon.

At 7:50 that night, a Cranbury resident walking near the Park Place parking lot noticed a bag and looked inside. Inside were the credit slips from the restaurant but the cash was missing.

Age Proves No Barrier For Two Shoplifters

Shoplifters are getting younger in Princeton.

Monday afternoon, a 10-year-old Township boy was caught stealing a toy under $10 at a toy store on Nasssu Street. He was detained in the custody of an adult until his parents arrived.

Two Township boys, 10 and 12, were observed concealing food items in their jackets and knapsacks at the Super Fresh market in the Princeton Shopping Center Friday afternoon. When they attempted to leave the store without paying they were apprehended by a security officer. Later released to the custody of their mothers, the youths had taken some fried chicken legs, a role of tape, a Slim Jim and cat treats worth a combined $9.02.

During the weekend, two tires and rims valued at $800 were removed from a student's 1986 Saab while it was parked at the rear of the Elm Club on Prospect Avenue. Four hubcaps were removed from a 1988 Plymouth van while it was parked overnight during the weekend in a lot off Nassau Street. Police report the van is registered to a Nassau Street business.

A case of vodka, six bottles of Canadian whiskey and six of tequila, worth $235, were stolen from the Graduate College on campus between 6:30 and 8:45 Friday evening. The liquor had been delivered for a dance and left unattended, police said, in an office.

A $50 Walkman stereo was stolen last week from a student's unlocked dorm room in Lockhart Hall on campus.

Last week, a 60-year-old Jamesburg resident left two attache cases on the sidewalk in front of 76 Nassau Street. During the time they were left unattended — between 1:45 and 2:15 in the morning — someone stole them. Valued at $200 and $80, the cases each contained personal papers.

Both cases were recovered the following morning near a Palmer Square loading dock. They had been forced open but their contents were intact, police said.

More Coats, Bikes Taken

Coats are beginning to rival bicycles as the most stolen items in Princeton.

Two coats were stolen Saturday night or early Sunday morning from Stevenson Hall on Prospect Avenue. One victim, a male student, lost a $150 down jacket and a backpack worth $100. A female student what about your children's deeper needs?

Their everyday needs are important. But they yearn for spiritual things as well — for love, and certainty, and knowing God cares for them.

In the Bible lessons at our Sunday School, young people's questions about God are answered in ways they can understand and prove.

We welcome your children, any Sunday.

reported the loss of her three-quarter length black coat valued at $200.

Between noon and 5:20 Saturday afternoon, a thief smashed a right rear window to enter a car parked in Lot 21 on the University campus off Faculty Road. Taken from the rear seat was a full-length, black leather trench coat valued at $300. The victim is a resident of Hopewell.

Three bicycles were also reported stolen last week, all from the University campus.

A $400 Trek mountain bike was taken from a rack outside the Engineering Quadrangle building — its cable lock had been cut — and a $270 mountain bike was stolen from outside Forbes College dorm where it had been locked to a rack. A bicycle locked to itself and valued at $80 was taken from an archway at Pyne Hall.

PU Student Is Fondled Near Prospect Gardens

A 21-year-old Princeton University senior was accosted and fondled Friday night near Prospect Gardens on the University campus.

According to Lt. Peter Hanley, the victim was walking along the pathway south of Prospect Gardens at 9:45 when she encountered a group of seven to ten males, 18 to 20 years old. The gang was engaged in the latest campus craze of "head butting lamps" in which one bangs a light pole with his head, trying to cause the light to flicker. There was a verbal exchange, Lt. Hanley said.

The victim, a resident of New York, reportedly told the gang members not to bang the lamps, saying it would leave the surrounding area dark and unsafe for others.

Lt. Hanley said that one of the group then grabbed the victim's hand with one of his hands and placed his other hand under her sweater and fondled her breasts. The victim screamed and broke free from his grasp. She ran, uninjured, to her dorm room where she notified the University's department of public safety. University officials called police.

"We don't know who the suspects are," Lt. Hanley said this week. "They appear to be college age but we don't know if they are college students or not." The victim had described them as rowdy.

The description police have of the suspect — white male, 18 to 19, brown hair — is not extensive, Lt. Hanley admitted. Prospect Gardens, where the incident took place is behind the former residence of the president of the University.

ville, Pa. was arrested by Borough police Sunday and charged with possession of a stolen street sign.

The student, Kevin Hipp, accompanied by another student, was observed walking in Olden street early in the morning — carrying an Olden Street sign — by the driver of a patrol car. When the two saw the patrol car, they dropped the sign and ran.

Hipp was apprehended, charged and later released, pending an appearance Monday in Borough court. His companion has not heen identified.

Study of Police Merger Approved by Township

Township Committee Monday night joined Borough Council in agreeing to look at a possible merger of the Borough and Township Police Departments. The Borough has 32 officers; the Township 30.

The idea was proposed this past July by Borough Councilman and Police Commissioner Mark Freda. At that time, he wrote a memo to each member of Council and Committee asking their reaction to combining the two departments to create one police force that would serve hoth Princetons.

Township Police Commissioner and Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand was an early supporter of looking into the merger.

Borough Police Capt. Thomas Michaud, who is expected to be named the new Borough chief, said he was in favor of going ahead with the study.

Township Chief Jack Petrone, however, is opposed to the consolidation.

"My main reason is I feel before they consolidate the police departments they should do something about the governing hodies so we don't have two governing bodies to report to. If you're going to have to start, start with the governing bodies," he said.

Mr. Freda wants to follow a cautious approach. "It would be a hig mistake to jump into it before we're ready to do it," he said.

Meetings Necessary

The next step, he said, would be a meeting of the two administrators, two police chiefs, and two police commissioners. The meetings might begin by going through recommendations on the subject contained in previous studies on consolidating the two municipalities.

Township Administrator James J. Pascale suggested that funds be set aside for an outside independent consultant to assist in the study, a suggestion strongly endorsed by Councilman Tom Poole.

Mr. Pascale pointed out that the police departments are the largest departments in both municipalities, with the biggest hudgets and most personnel.

Mr. Poole noted that there are many intangibles involved in a merger. "On paper it will be shown that consolidating the two departments will save money, but is that going to mean better police protection?" he asked.

Councilman Richard Woodbridge sought assurance that former Township Police Chief Fred Porter — who will become a member of Township Committee on January 1 — would be on Committee before a study committee was selected and the mechanics decided.

In August, Mr. Freda prepared a two-page memo listing the advantages and disadvantages of a joint Borough-Township police force.

Among the advantages he cited were a reduction in duplication of effort, more efficient and effective crime fighting, better interaction with the schools, an improved Safe Neighborhood program, a single dispatch center, a possible reduction in costs, and more specialized expertise.

Disadvantages included a possibly confusing transition period; morale problems if there were personnel reductions; a large initial outlay of capital if a new facility were built; and the cost of standardizing such items as rules, regulations, ordinances, and the communications system.

FLEET FOOT: Bobby Jones, a Chapin School eighth grader and captain of the 1990 boys' cross country team, is congratulated by coach Stephen Gingo for his many achievements. He placed first in each of the past four years in the championship run at Chapin and won medals two of the last three years in the Toms River invitational meet — this year taking sixth place out of 210 runners. For the past five years he has contributed to the team's 38 victories against non-public schools.

Borough Plans to Adopt Self-Insurance Program

Borough Council last week passed a resolution that will take the municipality into the area of partial self-insurance for employees' medical and dental coverage

Under the plan, the Borough will self-insure up to a maximum of $25,000. The basic concept of partial self-funded insurance is that the employer pays premiums to insurance companies for only the "catastrophic" claims that may occur The money the employer saves when it stops paying for the fully insured plans is then used to pay the "routine" claims, as they occur.

If the Borough had continued its current plan with Blue Cross/Blue Shield, it would have faced a 45 percent increase in premiums next year.

The Borough expects to save premium dollars by going the partial self-insured route. First-year estimates show an anticipated minimum savings of $12,464 over Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

Four Are Fined Monday In Borough Court Here

Four Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough court, three of those four in traffic court.

Kai Li, 7 Glenview Drive, was fined $70 for speeding and Bennett H. Waterhouse, 31 Laurelwood Drive, Lawrenceville, paid $60 for disregarding a traffic signal. Having no insurance card in possession cost Paul Gogulski, 24 Bayberry Road, Belle Mead, $20.

In criminal court, John Gore, 12 Pine Street, was fined $50 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board for assault. Mr. Gore was also placed on probation for a year.

In Township court last week, Robert A. Zivin, 6 Glenbrook Court, Lawrenceville, was fined $70 for speeding.

Peace Vigil Is Planned By Town & Gown Groups

The Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament and Princeton University's "Teach Peace" organization are co-sponsoring a vigil from noon to 1 this Saturday on Palmer Square. The theme of the vigil is "Peace on Earth, Not War in the Middle East," and the event is part of the two groups' ongoing efforts to prevent war.

The vigil will feature singing, leafletting and posters/banners opposing the Bush Administration's plan to go to war after January 15 if Iraq has not withdrawn from Kuwait.

The public is invited to join the vigil and the ongoing effort to prevent war from breaking out. For further information call the Coalition at 924-5022.

Special Holiday Events For Senior Citizens

The students of Wilson college at Princeton University are planning a holiday tea for senior citizens on Friday from 3 to 5. There will be food, fellowship, caroling, and surprise entertainment.

Bus transportation will be available from the following places: Senior Resource Center, 2:15; Redding Circle, 2:25; Mt. Pisgah Church, 2:35; and Elm Court, 2:45.

To register, call the Princeton Senior Resource Center at 924-7108. The event is limited to the first 50 callers.

On Sunday, December 16, at 2, the Capital Music Festival will present a holiday sampler with the vocal ensemble Voices. All seniors are invited to attend at no charge.

The concert, which is sponsored by the Composers Guild of New Jersey in partnership with the New Jersey State Museum, will feature works by New Jersey composers Olga Gorelli, Moshe Budmor, Claudio Spies and Gordon Myers, as well as excerpts from Handel's Messiah, and works by Respighi. Also planned are festive sing-alongs. There will be a post-concert reception.

Bus transportation will be available from the following places: Senior Resource Center, 12:45; Redding Circle, 1; Mt. Pisgah Church, 1:15; and Elm Court, 1:30.

Opus Dei Sues Borough

A lawsuit has been filed by Opus Dei to challenge the refusal of the Borough Zoning Board to reverse a determination by the zoning officer that the group was not using the house at 34 Mercer Street as a single-family home. In addition, Opus Dei attorney Christopher Baker is challenging the constitutionality of the Borough ordinance that permits a maximum of five persons unrelated by blood to be considered a family

Mr Baker, who has granted Borough attorney Michael Herbert additional time to familiarize himself with the case, said he hopes there will be a new ordinance. "We are not trying to rush this at all," he said He pointed out that the Borough land use ordinance — which he suggested during the Zoning Board hearing in September was unconstitutional — was a principal basis of the Zoning Board's decision.

During the hearing, Mr. Baker argued that 34 Mercer Street is a single-family house, not a rooming house. "Members of Opus Dei function as a family," he said, citing a New Jersey Supreme Court decision that held ten unrelated college students were a family.

The suit was filed in Superior Court against the Zoning Board, Mayor and Council, and Zoning Officer Frank Slimak

Mr. Herbert said he was in the process of preparing a draft ordinance to attempt to meet Mr. Baker's concerns, while at the same time not opening up rooming houses to the entire town. He stated that Council had asked him to prepare something that offers minimum intrusion to places with non-familial settings, but with a common ground — "not rooming houses."

"We can't have eight or ten or more adults living in a situation with one bathroom, with the landlord charging each resident, and calling themselves a family," said Mr. Herbert. "We are trying to let organizations like Opus Dei, that adhere to all zoning regulations, have their facility, and also not interfere with religious or ancillary religious activity."

The new ordinance is expected to be ready after the first of the year.

The house at 34 Mercer Street, now called Mercer House, is an Opus Dei center run by the Nassau Foundation. Opus Dei is a doctrinally conservative worldwide Catholic prelature.

Free Fax to Servicepeople

Hinkson's and the Roberto family are offering free Christmas fax messages to service people in Europe and the Persian Gulf.

"In keeping with the spirit of the season, my family and I would like to provide families of service people with an opportunity to send their loved one an 8½ by 11 Christmas message by fax," said Rosemary Roberto.

Hinkson's will provide the manpower and service all calls during regular business hours. Persons interested in sending a fax should call the store, at 82 Nassau Street, 924-0112, to make an appointment. Hinksons must be provided with the name, rank and serial number of the service person, as well as city and country code numbers and fax numbers.

The free faxes will go out from December 14 through Christmas Eve day. MCI is providing free long-distance service for this effort.

Saturnalia Celebration At the Latin Academy

Princeton Latin Academy, located on Route 518 in Hopewell, will celebrate Saturnalia, the Roman Feast of Lights, on Wednesday, December 19.

Headmaster Francesco Perrulli uses Saturnalia, the most joyous of all the Roman celebrations, to encompass the many upcoming holidays to be celebrated around the world: Chanukah, Christmas, Diwali, and Santa Lucia. Princeton Latin Academy tries to shed some intellectual illumination on the season by teaching the children the various ways man, with all his poetic genius and faith, comes to terms with the darkness of the winter solstice. All celebrations are feasts of light.

Highlighting the festivities will be skits in Latin and English, a concert which will feature international holiday music both sung and played on the recorder by the students. Following the presentation will be an International Table of Sweets. All are invited.

The program begins at 1 at the school. For further information, call 924-2206.

Birth Control Is Topic Of Lecture on January 3

Princeton Associates for Total Health will sponsor a talk by Dr. Gail Bauchman on a new path in the approach to birth control, with emphasis placed on the cervical cap. A question-and-answer period will follow the talk, which will take place at 100-102 Tamarack Circle, Skillman, at 8 on January 3.

The lecture is free and open to the public. Call 921-1842 for reservations.

Indoor Skating Rinks Will Open Saturday

Ice Land, a 65,000-square-foot facility housing two NHL regulation-size year-round ice rinks, will open to the public on Saturday. Located half way between both Princeton and Trenton and Philadelphia and New York, Ice Land will cater to hockey leagues, figure skaters and recreational skaters of all ages. The rinks will be open 12 months a year from 6 a.m. to midnight daily.

"This is a dream come true for us as well as hockey and figure skaters throughout the Princeton region," explains managing partner, amateur hockey player and coach, John Boyd. "There are too few rinks to meet the demand in this area. My sons have to practice hockey at 5:30 in the morning and I play league games at midnight." Hockey has become an increasingly popular sport since the 1980 Olympics when the U.S. team won against the Russians.

Mr. Boyd, Tim Kerr of the Philadelphia Flyers, Bill Levine, an attorney from Cherry Hill, and a small group of investors began to dream about Ice Land two years ago. Boyd and Kerr have overseen the design, plans and construction of the two 200- by 85-foot rinks to insure the best possible arenas. Ice Land is located 2½ miles east of Route 1 and the Quaker Bridge Mall, in a building that previously housed indoor tennis courts.

In addition to his many accomplishments as a hockey player, Mr. Kerr is known for summer hockey camps and clinics for children. He intends to locate his summer hockey program at Ice Land beginning this summer. "This may be the only full-day hockey program in the area," said Mr. Kerr.

"Each participant will be offered three hours of ice time daily as well as dry land training." Week-long and weekend clinics for skaters of all ages and skill levels will be offered at Ice Land year round beginning at Christmas.

The Ice Land program will include also spring, summer and fall youth and adult hockey leagues; a learn-to-skate program; a mother and tot program; pateh, freestyle and ice dancing; figure skating competitions; public skating; and special holiday events. Public skating and group lessons are scheduled on week nights and weekends.

For skaters and nonskaters, Ice Land will house an extensive pro shop, a concession area from where both skating rinks can be viewed and a party/meeting room where teams can meet and special events can be scheduled. The concession stand will offer food from noon to 10 p.m. during the week and from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. on the weekends.

The rinks were designed and huilt by C.W. Davis of Syracuse, N.Y. Mr. Boyd is general manager of the facility. Doug Baran of Montreal is rink manager and will coordinate the rink's hockey programs. Mr. Baran was director of the CanAm hockey camps and coordinator of adult tournaments and leagues.

Denise Catani is Ice Land's figure skating director. She brings ten years experience in figure and power skating instruction. Laura Boyd is director of off-ice activities.

Ice Land general partners also include Don Williams of Princeton Equity Group and Harry and Andy Brener of Coppermine Development.

United Way Campaign At 82 Percent of Goal

After ten weeks, the United Way-Princeton Area Communities Annual Drive has achieved 82 percent of the $3 million goal.

"Despite a softening of the economy, we are hopeful," stated Carol Holzer, 1990/91 general chairman for the campaign. United Way Executive Director Richard Grigos said that one of the bright spots this year has been the success of many area corporations with fewer employees which have been able to increase their level of giving. Edward Weck Inc. and GE American Communication are two examples of extraordinary effort.

Mr. Grigos also cited the new arca corporations that have participated such as Rhone-Poulenc, NEC Research Institute, and Ross Stores. This is the result of a special cultivation effort that was started in the late spring.

According to Ms. Holzer, the plan is to make follow-up contact with contributors who donated in the past. "We have not heard from many individuals and professionals," said Ms. Holzer. However, she recognized that many contributors wait until the end of the year to make their contributions.

"Our success over the next few weeks is critical to our agencies receiving support and we ask community members to please help us reach our goal," she said. The United Way-Princeton Area Communities has met its goal each of the past 14 years.

The United Way has moved its offices this year. The new address is 15 Roszel Road, Princeton, 08543.

Annual Job Fair Is Held At Rutgers University

More than 30 regional businesses will recruit employees at a job fair Thursday from 9:30 to 1 at Rutgers University.

The event is the seventh annual fair sponsored by the Central Jersey Job Developers Association in conjunction with the Douglass Advisory Services for Women and the Greater Raritan Private Industry Corp. It will be held at the Rutgers Labor Education Center at the corner of Ryders Lane and Clifton Avenue.

Businesses scheduled to be recruiting employees for a variety of positions include New Jersey Bell, Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, Somerset Trust Co., Interferon Sciences, and the Somerset Marriott hotel.

For those interested in starting their own businesses, the New Jersey Department of Commerce and Economic Development will staff an information table. In addition, QED Assessment Corp. will do free vocational testing.

Spanish-language translation and a sign-language interpreter will be available. New Jersey Transit will provide free transportation information on getting to work in central Jersey and other areas of the state. Admission to the job fair is free and no registration is required.

For more information, call Dorna Silverman of Douglass Advisory Services for Women at (201) 932-9603/9274, or Abbey Sharp at the Greater Raritan Private Industry Council at (201) 524-1124.

Storytelling Saturday For Club Santa Members

Princeton MarketFair's Club Santa members will hear storytelling by Susan Reiman on Saturday at 11 near Santa's castle.

MarketFair will also collect "Toys for Tots" from Club Santa Members. The "Toys for Tots" program is spearheaded by the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, which each year collects and distributes thousands of toys to disadvantaged children throughout the country. All members of Club Santa have been asked to bring an unwrapped gift for either a boy or girl.

Children between the ages of 3 and 10 are invited to register for Club Santa every holiday season. This free club allows children to enjoy the spirit of the holidays through weekly activities.

All-Day Sunday Parking

Collins Corporation is offering low-priced parking on Sundays during the Christmas season at its Hulfish Street garage. Cars may park for the entire day at a cost of one dollar.

Borough Merchants for Princeton also wanted to alert the community that parking is free after 5 p.m. weekdays and all day Saturday and Sunday at the Princeton University lot behind the former Thomas Sweet.

This is in addition to the Saturday free parking during the holiday season. While the bagging of the meters is supposed to offer customers free parking, merchants are distressed because it appears that employees are parking at the bagged meters all day.

At a Tuesday meeting of the merchants' group, it was decided to talk to employees about the problem, as well as to get the word out to those merchants who are not members of the group.

The group is planning to discuss at its January meeting how to deal with this situation next year.

MORE PRINCETON LORE: Jeanne Silvester, left, and Randy Hobler have a new publication in print, a run-down of streets in Princeton Borough and Township listed alphabetically with history of origin and naming.

Princeton Streets Topic of New Publication

The authors of Princeton Trivia Perspectives, a collection of miscellaneous information on Princeton past and present that came out in 1985, have put together a new book on Princeton streets.

Princeton: On the Streets Where We Live has just been issued in paperback by Jeanne Silvester and Randy Hobler, longtime Princeton residents and friends. Covered in bright Princeton orange with an aerial photograph of the downtown business district that antedates the Chambers Street garage, it is an alphabetical listing of all the streets in the Borough and Township with information on the origin of each.

The authors have consulted histories, old newspapers, real estate executives, builders and longtime residents for the answers to questions like, "Was there a quarry on Quarry Street? a law court on Chambers Steet? a spring on Spring Street?" The research led to some "surprising discoveries, a few dead ends and more unearthed history than we expected," they write in the introduction, which gives an overview of the history of roads in Princeton from the time there were only a few Indian trails.

Packed with Princeton names, dates, history and lore, the book has a breezy, informal tone and is well supplied with interesting old photographs showing vistas that can no longer be seen because of the trees. At the end, the authors propose that there be fewer scenic, tree and brook names for Princeton's roads and more streets celebrating the lives of Princeton men and women.

Their list of suggestions includes, among others, Waxwood, Fox, Sigmund, Conover, Hulit, Van Zant, Peyton, Phox, Steadman, Dodge, Pyne, Carnevale, "and maybe Hobler and Silvester."

"Why not?" they ask. Why not indeed.

Wanted: a Real Library, Not a Community Center

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was cheered up on a frosty morning by the news that the majority of Princeton Public Library trustees are leaning in the direction of a move to the Princeton Shopping Center.

In the last few years my family and I have used the library less and less. Yes, we've taken books home — but the busy but relative quiet we once enjoyed for reading and studying in the library itself no longer exists.

At many times, it seems as though the library is a community center. It appears to be a base for people sort of hanging out ... indeed the last time I attempted to do some research in the library, my tablemate carried on a two-hour conversation while gift-wrapping boxes for holiday giving.

Perhaps we need a real community center where our current library stands — a welcoming haven for teenagers not-so-quietly conversing; children simply left there for a few safe hours; and adults (many) who appear to have no other place to spend daytime hours in a warm pleasant environment. It is my understanding that the community poll taken recently revealed that citizens want a library to be a library — busy and stimulating to be sure but not serving the needs of a community center.

As for parking in downtown Princeton, enough has been said. Let's move to the shopping center. I can't wait to have a real library once again!

PAMELA GOOD
706 Princeton-Kingston Road

Library Should Remain On Witherspoon Street

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I would be a lot more comfortable with the debate about moving the Library from downtown to out of town if the offer of a building out of town came after the decision to move.

The "facts and figures" approach being taken according to newspaper accounts is surely emergency-based, something I find hard to connect with libraries.

These accounts, coming from Library Board meetings, omit only that certain lines of merchandise will do better out of town than they do in, so involved in dollar signs the Board seems to be.

As for me, I am concerned over use of the library, not ease of use. If the present library was not so intensely used, there would be no thought of moving it. Because it is so heavily used (not surprising in a community like Princeton), the demand for materials grows. So the issue moves from use to space. But if a move means lessening of use, what good is increased storage, except as repository? This a little like snatching defeat from the jaws of victory, or more aptly perhaps, killing the goose that lays the eggs.

Because, be sure that use will decline as Ms. Thresher, the Library director, has warned and as research and experience show, I suggest a visit to the Lawrenceville Branch of the County Library, a large building on US 1 almost always empty, at least during the day, to see what the Epstein Public Library would be like.

The critical $3 million value in the present building surely is a will of the wisp as any owner who has sold real estate can testify. It's $3 million when you get it, not before. Any commercial agency -- a new anchor for CBD Princeton -- will face the same parking and other needs any business seeking to make back its basic nut and more. I can't imagine what could serve as an appropriate anchor.

Alternate public use as an anchor? Better consult with the overseers of the former Paul Robeson Center on the opposite corner. Teenage and community centers are relics of the past. And who would be expected to absorb the $3 million not subtracted from the move, in a situation where the Borough owns the land and a public corporation owns the building? It could make one of the best designed parking garages in the east!

Nobody would equate $3 million with 44 parking spaces and one more year of effort to raise the money -- I haven't heard whether it'll be easier to raise money for an expanded library or a moved library -- and surely means can be found for incremental expansions and temporary arrangements (say a store-front reading room with 7-day and rental library in the Shopping Center to siphon those who drive in just for that now) in the meantime.

Keep the library in town.

rible accident suffered by Princeton sophomore Bruce Miller at the Dinky. To say that the student had no business climbing atop the Dinky misses the point, considering the continuing toll of grave accidents at this site.

Mr. Miller and two students before him have been grievously injured by accidents at the Dinky. The question now is whether New Jersey Transit intends to wait for a fatality before getting serious about safety at this location. That is precisely the sad lesson at the Faculty Road crossing on the Dinky tracks, where repeated accidents were met with inaction until the inevitable fatal accident forced the installation of a crossing gate.

The fact is that New Jersey Transit is the owner of a lethal, 11,000-volt machine that can kill anyone who touches it. At night it sits unattended and unprotected near the heart of a college campus, within 100 yards of two dormitories.

The railroad's responsibility to protect this particularly headstrong public certainly goes beyond placing a small, unlit warning sign on the top of the Dinky. The ladder leading to the top of the train is easily accessible from the platform and contains no warnings whatsoever. The warning sign on the panograph itself in no way suggests the deadly danger contained there.

The unattended train should be made inaccessible and disengaged from the overhead power lines. Written warnings should state clearly that the voltage can kill you. Bruce Miller was not given the chance he deserved to stop. Will it take an electrocution before New Jersey Transit eliminates its own death penalty?

Fervent Plea to Keep Library in Its Place

To the Editor, Town Topics:

The future of the Princeton Public Library is of profound interest to so many of us — we value the library's excellent and considerate services to so many sectors of an appreciative public.

In its present location, it serves as the heart of Princeton physically and symbolically. To move to Epstein's is to relinquish a vitality and a presence that keeps the core of Princeton alive and helps to maintain a true community.

This note is a fervent plea to keep our library in its current place, adding whatever extensions are necessary. I know I am not alone when I make this appeal.

Democrats Urge Town To Secure HUD Grant

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Because of the obvious urgency attaching to the availability of affordable housing in Princeton, the Executive Committee of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization adopted the following resolution at its regular monthly meeting last Saturday, December 8th. It has been delivered to Borough and Township halls.

Resolution: Whereas, the Princeton Community Democratic Organization has long supported the expansion of the community's low and moderate income housing stock; and

Whereas, the opportunity to receive a generous housing grant from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development is within our grasp; and

Whereas, the two governing bodies enjoy a very short time within which to work with nonprofit institutions in the community to secure a site for this housing.

Now Therefore Be It Resolved by the Executive Committee of the Princeton Community Democratic Organization, acting on behalf of its membership, strongly to urge the elected officials to exert their best efforts, in cooperation with other local institutions, to secure the HUD grant for low income housing before the end of this year of 1990.

I encourage all who share this goal to deliver a similar message to our elected officials.

President

Congrats to PHS Team On Fine Football Season

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter we have sent to the Princeton High School 1990 Football Team and Coach Keith Wadsworth.

On behalf of the PTO Council and parents in our Princeton community, we would like to congratulate you for a truly exceptional football season. Your winning has filled us with great pride and admiration for all your hard work.

It is a pleasure not only to see Princeton High School excel in academics but attain lofty heights in athletics as well. Each is as important as the other in promoting the well being of the individual and the community.

We think you're great!

Why Your Sewer Bills Will Be Up This Year

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeton Sewer Operating Committee (PSOC) has just finished replacing the two major trunk sewers in town. It, therefore, seems appropriate to give an informal report to the long suffering citizens of Princeton and its environs about the Princeton sewer system renovation project and the PSOC's activities in general.

The Princeton Sewer Renovation Project: First, we would like to express our appreciation to everyone who so graciously accepted the necessity of having streets and backyards torn up for what seemed an interminable time. Everyone realized that it had to be done and everyone, with a few exceptions, dealt with us pleasantly and cooperatively. We thank you sincerely.

Second, our project has received an award from the Consulting Engineers Council of New Jersey. One of our consulting engineers for the project, Clinton Bogart Associates, was given an award for excellence for "state of the art abatement of overflow and reduction of infiltration and inflow" used on our project.

This is a welcome confirmation of our choice of consultants to help us. If anyone would like a copy of the paper by Kaufman Hull of CBA describing the work, please call me at 921-8423.

Third, we are approaching the end of this project to renew our 110 miles of sewer pipe, 2,750 manholes, seven pumping stations and other accouterments. It started in 1976 and will finish in about two years.

NOTICE

Letters to TOWN TOPICS "Mailbox" should be typed, double-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. Letters longer than 500 words — or letters on the same subject — may be edited or omitted entirely, at the discretion of the editor. Letters on subjects not specifically related to the Princeton area may also be rejected.

The two trunk sewers, one on the east side of town (three miles long) and one on the west (five miles long) which were in such bad condition, have been replaced. Many of the collector lines which bring the sewage from the houses to the trunk lines were also in poor shape. The repairs to these in the worst half of the Princeton system are almost complete. In a couple of years all will be done.

Because all these repairs now exclude storm and ground water from our pipes, all the obnoxious sewage overflows with which we were plagued have stopped. Proper maintenance will keep it that way.

All this doesn't come for nothing. Princetonians will notice some increase in their sewer charges. But we have minimized this first by staying within our $14.5 million budget. Second, we were able to get some low-cost financing from the state and federal governments.

Third, charges to Princeton from the Stony Brook Regional Sewer plant will be decreased about one quarter by the removal of all the extraneous water which used to go to the plant. Last, we exercised strong control over expenses in general.

The Princeton Sewer Operating Committee: Here follows a brief description of the PSOC and what it does with the dollars from your sewer charges.

The PSOC was created in 1932 by a contract between Princeton Township, Princeton Borough and Princeton University. It operates the Princeton sewer system and the solid waste disposal facilities on River Road. It does not own or operate the sewer plant on River Road. That is a regional sewer plant and takes sewage from several towns including Princeton.

The PSOC Commirtee is composed of six unpaid members, two each appointed by the three preceding contract principals. There are 13 employees: one professional licensed engineer-manager, four supervisors and inspectors, one secretary and seven field personnel.

The yearly cost of operation and maintenance of the sewer system is about $550 thousand and of solid waste about $175 thousand. These amounts do not include any capital expenses or debt service which are managed separately by each of the two towns.

Sewer activities include routine cleaning of lines and clearing blockages, routine surveillance for needed repairs, routine repairs, operation of the seven sewer pumping stations around town, supervising and inspecting new installations and repairs, etc .

We are available 24 hours per day, 365 days a year for emergencies. Small engineering and repair work is done in house, but larger projects and repairs are contracted out.

The PSOC's only significant activity in solid waste is on River Road. It operates the landfill and transfer station where selected, home rubbish (not garbage, hazardous materials, etc.) is brought by Princeton private citizens (no commercial people at all) to be landfilled or put in dumpsters for hauling away.

Over half the costs are dumpster fees of around $90,000 per year. New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection fees and taxes add about $15 thousand.

If any readers have questions, I invite them to call me at 921-8423. In the meantime we shall continue to observe our motto: Sub terris ministramus.

Participants Thanked For Attending Vigil

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of Princetnn for Palestine, I would like to thank everyone who came out and participated in the third annual vigil for the victims of the Palestinian Intifada. Despite the bitter cold and windy weather many of you joined us tn commemorate the dead.

I'd like to thank the Princeton University Chapel for their participation and support, the Dean of Students Office, the International Center, Pax Christie Princeton, Muslim Students Association and the Islamic Society of Central Jersey.

Finally, the Princeton Students fnr Palestine worked hard to insure the success of the vigil.

The Late Morris Forer: A Mover and a Shaker

To the Editor, Town Topics:

Those of us who worked with Morris Forer over the years were saddened by the loss of this wonderful mover and shaker. He was a vigorous and effective advocate for the frail and needy elderly of the Princeton community.

His years of service on the Board of the Princeton Senior Resource Center and on the Commission on Aging attest to his concern for the fair treatment of his fellow human beings.

After his retirement he joined the Art Expressions Group at Redding Circle and rediscovered a long-ignored talent for drawing and painting. He took over the leadership of the Group when the instructor could no longer be funded and kept it gning until his health failed.

We shall miss his cheerful participation and support.

Fiscal Restraint Needed In Face of Tax Burdens

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Continuing discussions of an unusual number of large school and town expenditures threaten many property owners with extremely large increases in local taxes, increases which will drive down sharply the value of the property they are based on, in a time when property values are already in a steep decline.

This too in a time of sharp increases in Federal and State taxes. Fear is generated not only hy tax realities but by the failure of Borough and Town officials to give any idea of the cost of the many expenditures being publicly discussed, chiefly:

1. A 29% (plus compounding) increase over three years in the salaries of teachers, already negotiated.
2. The Social Security and pension plan benefit costs of teachers, mandated by a change in state law.
3. Loss over three years of most of the state aid to education funds.
4. Unrevealed heavy losses in the failure of the Griggs Farm affordable housing scheme financed by Township short term bonds.
5. The plan to buy and renovate the private estate, Tusculum.
6. Borrowing $10 million from the State to purchase lands owned by the Institute for Advanced Study.
7. Renovation of the present library at the cost of several millions, or removal of it to the Shopping Center at a cost of something like $12 million.

Obviously all of this will not fly, and portions of it would be financed by long term bonds. But the prospects are unnerving as each special group makes its claims, and local property taxes seem likely to go through the roof. It is time to plan, and we hope others will join us in writing to local officials to urge fiscal restraint and to ask that the taxpayers be informed, at once, of the percentage increases in school and town taxes that will be required to fund each of these projects.

Before new budgets are constructed assuming huge increases and the changes are concretized in bureaucratic arrangements, taxpayers need to know what they are actually facing in order to consider their situation reasonably and discuss it with our officials before it comes to the head-on arrangement of voting a budget up or down.

A Thank-you for Support From Winning Candidates

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Princeton community for its support, in every capacity, during our recent reelection campaign.

Your continued vote of confidence parallels our commitment to continue to work together with you, Princeton Borough, to keep Princeton the quality town we all know and love. By doing so, we continue building a future that values our past.

'Tis the Season to Discover Area Stores' Specialties

It's "An Old-Fashioned Holiday" in Princeton this year. The community and merchants have combined their efforts to provide an atmosphere of fun and festivity for all ages. Fir trees with red bows line Nassau Street, Palmer Square takes on the appearance of a Dickens' English village, horses and carriages transport eager riders, and a variety of seasonal activities, from storytelling to carol singing to holiday wassail and Christmas cookies from the Nassau Inn, is under way.

Shoppers could hardly find a more congenial environment as they search for that special gift. The big day is getting closer, however. Twelve more shopping days!

IT'S NEW To Us

The Princeton University Store always offers special surprises and especially at holiday time. Located at University Place, Princeton's own mini-department store offers one-stop shopping for all members of the family. Everything from men's and women's clothes to sports equipment to books to TVs and CDs is available at this popular store.

High tech has certainly arrived at the U-Store, and the electronics department provides a wide range of items from calculators, starting at $6.95, to electronic dictionaries at $299. Telephones, including cordless, start at $24.95 and go up to $229.95. Answering machines are available from $69, and there are also stereo components, including CD players, speakers and accessories.

TVs, from small three-inch to 20-inch screens, are in stock from $149 to $399, and there is a full line of VCRs, as well as clock radios, alarm clocks, desk lamps and electronic accessories.

The U-Store also has a full-fledged photography department. An excellent variety of gift ideas includes photo albums in many styles and designs, such as lacquerware and tortoise shell, and a selection of mini frames for two- by three-inch prints in glass, ceramic, terra cotta, enamel, brass and silver plate.

Two special cameras include the Fuji Discovery 800 Zoom at an excellent price of $225 and the Minolta 8000 with F1.7 lens, offered at $676.90. Another important item is the Polaroid Vivitar slide viewer at $151.95, which makes instant prints from any 35mm slide.

Music has always been a big part of the U-Store, and it offers a full range of CDs, including classical, pop, rock, jazz and Christmas music, from $4.98 to $18.98 per disc. According to a store spokesman, it has the largest collection of classical CDs in the area, including many imported selections. There are CD sets, as well, and the store also buys and sells used CDs.

Sheet music is a U-Store specialty, and it covers all categories. In particular, there is a larger assortment of choral music than ever before. In addition, the department offers something special. A keyboard is available for customers to try out the music.

Books are big business at the store, and it has an extremely large selection in all areas. The book department will also host a special event this Sunday when Sergei Krushchev, son of the late Nikita Krushchev, will autograph his book, Krushchev on Krushchev. Moving further back in Russian history is Stalin In Power: The Revolution From Above, 1928-1941 by Robert C. Tucker.

Other important non-fiction includes Abraham Lincoln &

U-STORE SPECIALTIES: A full supply of Christmas cards, wrapping paper, ribbon, ornaments and decorations is available at The Princeton University Store's Christmas Shop. The adjacent stationery department offers a variety of writing supplies, including the top-of-the-line Mont Blanc gold and silver fountain pens, as well as Cross and Parker pens, among others. A large selection of diaries, planners, telephone and address books and calendars will help to organize the New Year.

the Second American Revolution by Princetonian James M. McPherson ($17.95).

Other books by local authors are Vladimir Nabokov: The Russian Years by Brian Boyd, Michael Graves' Buildings and Projects: 1982-1989; Raad to Divorce: England 1530-1987 by Lawrence Stone and autographed copies of John McPhee's, Looking far a Ship ($18.95). Also available are the hardcover copies of Robert Gambee's very popular photo essay Princeton for $34.95 ($19.95 in paperback), and the late Barbara Sigmund's An Unfinished Life.

In the art, photo and music categories, handsome gift books include Ansel Adams: The American Wilderness, "the vision of one of the greatest 20th Century American photographers," Mexico: Splendors of Thirty Centuries, the exhibition catalogue from the Metropolitan Museum of Art, with an introduction by Nobel Laureate Octavio Paz. For the Mozart Years 1791-1991 is by Daniel Heartz, one of America's finest Mozart scholars.

There are a number of excellent titles for children, including Just a Dream by Chris Van Allsburg, Aida, told by Leotyne Price, a beautifully illustrated story of the opera for $16.95, and the new Dr. Seuss Oh the Places You'll Go for $12.95.

The U-Store also offers a variety of foreign language books, as well as the hard-to-find Vis-Ed's Flash Cards in French, Italian, Spanish and German at $7.95 for 1000 cards.

A large number of remainder books are always on sale, with special savings available.

Clothes are always among the most popular gifts at the store, and sweaters are especially popular. In the men's department, a large selection of wool, cotton and cashmere in solids and stripes offer many choices from $30 to $300.

Coordinates from Boston Trader, Nautica, British Khaki, Sperry and Willis & Geiger are some of the best-selling items, and there is also outerwear from Nautica and Woolrich, including ski jackets and parkas.

A big selection of ties ($15 to $38.50), including a variety of musical ties at $20, is also in stock.

Gloves, mufflers and hats are in full supply, as is a very big assortment of Princeton apparel, including an extensive supply of sweat shirts, pants, and athletic clothing.

An excellent gift idea is the assortment of men's fragrances, including cologne and aftershave from the respected English line of Czech and Speake, at $17 to $50.

The women's selection is one of the biggest in the store now, and there is a full range of sweaters, skirts, blouses and accessories. Special items include Navallio handknit V-neck, pullover and cardigan sweaters in off-white, purple, red and black at $74 to $78. There are also South wool handknit Christmas sweaters and Deans of Scotland novelty sweaters from $75 to $260.

Marlynn suede skirts of caramel or forest green in mid-calf length are very special at $190, and Woolrich corduroy and flannel skirts in solids or plaids are available at $38.

George Harrison lambswool scarves imported from England will help keep out the cold winter wind, and they are in stock in tartans and solids at $40.

Getting dressed up for the holidays is fun, and the J.H. Collectible velvet holiday group includes sapphire or ruby jacket with gold trim at $135. Ankle or knee-length skirts are $85 to $110, and the striking gold lame blouse is $85.

Jewelry is one of the most popular gifts of all, and the U-Store has a wide selection, including a variety with a Princeton theme. Tiger or Princeton seal pierced or clip earrings start at $34, and Princeton shield, crest or tiger pendants are $12 to $16.

Shoes are available for both men and women, and there is an enormous line of Princetoniana, with everything from clothing to mugs to key rings to rocking chairs available. Athletic equipment is also a big item.

Candy, snacks and sundries are also available, and since the fall, the Princeton University Pharmacy has been associated with the U-Store. Located on the ground floor, it provides a full prescription service.

The U-Store offers gift certificates and free gift wrapping and is open Monday to Friday, 9 to 8:30, Saturday until 5:30 and Sunday 12 to 5 until Christmas.

Classic shoes for men and women are the specialty of Ricchard's on Nassau Street. The attractive store offers a full line of dress and casual shoes, including many for holiday festivities.

The top-of-the-line Salvatore Ferragamo women's shoes from Italy are exclusive to Ricchard's in Princeton, and several styles are available, as well as a large selection of handbags. Special for the holidays are black peau de soie pumps with decorative bow and matching evening bag.

Other lines include Sesto Meucci, Vanelli, Bandolino, Peter Kaiser (a German line that fits the wider foot especially well), and Enzo Angiolini, as well as 9 West and Unisa.

Flats and heels are all in stock, and Ricchard's also carries Sam and Libby, fun flats in suede and leather in several colors at $32. Another popular shoe is the Draper Walking shoe, which is especially known for comfort and sells for $75 in black and tan.

Many styles in boots are available — from ankle to high, in dressy leather, as well as the waterproof all-weather variety. Rain boots are $40 and up, and there are also beautiful Draper 100% sheepskin boots for the snowy days ahead. Dress boots, ranging from $90 to $385, come with leather and rubber soles, and recently popular is the riding style boot.

Also available are the traditional Draper sheepskin ladies' slippers.

Ricchard's will be offering Hanes hosiery for the holidays, specifically Silky Reflections,

Friday, Dec. 14, 12:30-2:30

Sergei Khruschev, the only son with whom Nikita Khruschev shared many of his often guarded thoughts and feelings, is the author of Khruschev on Khruschev. The book is a fascinating account of Nikita Khruschev's era and downfall.

In a narrative as gripping as a detective story, he reveals the secretive maneuvers of Leonid Brezhnev and his supporters — involving possible plans to murder the Soviet leader — and the warnings he and other members of his family received, yet found too incredible to heed.

It's New to Us

and also new this year is a line of umbrellas from Liberty, including a variety of multi-colored prints from $39.

Men can count on Ricchard's for a full selection, including the new Rockport DressSports, a dressy shoe with full comfort features.

Formal wear is available from Bally of Switzerland, as is a large selection of dress shoes from Cole Haan, Alden and Allen Edmonds.

A.S. Rigger American handsewn classics, including dress and casual loafers, are in stock, and there are also the popular suede shoes.

An assortment of casual rubber-soled shoes from Rockport and Walk Over include bucks and saddles, among others.

Draper sheepskin boots from England ($150 to $165) are very popular, as are the Draper sheepskin lined slippers with cushioned soles. Other slippers are available from Evans.

Ricchard's is open Monday to Friday 9 to 6, Thursday until 8 and Saturday until 5. There will be expanded hours for holiday shopping.

Sartorial gift ideas can be splendidly fulfilled at Alan Royce on Nassau Street. The men's shop, which specializes in an updated traditional look, has a wonderful selection in all areas.

In the leather goods category, the shop is one of only 12 in the United States which carries Huc of Sweden. "It is the finest leather made in the world," according to store manager Andrew Gensey, and two special items include Shearling and Spanish lambskin duffle-length coats.

A very handsome selection of sports coats is on display, with a more exotic look in fabrication this year. Cashmere and camel's hair are shown, coordinated with a camel's hair vest.

Neckties are more extensive than ever, and all patterns and colors are available in somewhat wider styles. Ties with more dramatic prints are seen now — for example, a woven jacquard print with an overprint — and this is a great way to lighten up a dark suit.

Another way to add color and drama to an outfit is the choice of braces. Alan Royce has a great selection from $30 and up, and in particular, the all-silk, leather trimmed Trafalgar Limited Edition braces, are very popular. With different motifs, such as golf, football, hunting and the Scales of Justice, they are $115.

Sea Island cotton dress shirts are in bolder stripes and colorations now, and French cuffs are more and more in demand, reports Mr. Gensey. Accordingly, cuff links have become more popular, and the shop has a nice variety including the special American stamp selection, from $25.

Blazer buttons also sell well, and stud sets for formal wear are important at holiday time. Alan Royce has tuxedos on display, along with a selection of ties and cummerbunds.

The shop also has a wider selection of casual sportswear than ever before. French jersey rugby shirts and sweatshirts are very popular and fit in nicely with the executive sportswear look.

Sweaters are doing better than ever, especially the dressier lightweight Merino wools, which can layer well with sports coats. They are shown in several subtle patterns and colors. Sweater vests are available from $75, sweaters from $95.

Cruisewear is also a big item at the store, with swim suits, cotton sweaters and lightweight shirts and pants in full supply.

Robes, including heavyweights, lightweights and travel weights are very big sellers, with the cotton terry the most popular. Velours on the outside and terry on the inside, they come in solids, stripes, and polka dots and in a variety of colors for $75 and up.

Alan Royce also has some special gift items, which are new to the shop this year. First-day-issue plaques include stamp and envelope, with themes relating to bankers, lawyers, doctors and sports. At $65, they are a nice executive gift for the office.

Another fine executive gift idea is the Pelican pen from Germany, and Alan Royce is the only distributor in the area. Available in fountain, ballpoint and pencil, this is an outstanding writing instrument, and as Mr. Gensey says, "With this kind of gift, you don't have to worry about size."

Gift certificates and gift packaging are available, and the store is open Monday through Friday 9:30 to 8:30, Saturday until 5:30 and Sunday 11 to 4.

Shopping at Susan Greene in The MarketPlace at Routes 27 and 518 is a treat for the holiday season. It offers a potpourri of gift ideas, ranging from handbags and luggage to jewelry and a variety of miscellaneous items at special prices.

Handbags are a Susan Greene specialty, and the shop offers one of the largest selections around. Every style, size and design is available, from satchel to shoulder tote to evening bags, including such names as Brio, Ganson, Biasia, Park Avenue and Unisa, among others. They start at $29, and there is also a half-price sale in progress on leather bags.

Evening bags in velvet, silk, satin and mother-of-pearl start at $20.99.

Luggage is another special item, and Samsonite, American Tourister and Lucas are available, as well as special five-piece Verdi sets for $99 and four-piece Verdi tapestry sets, also for $99.

Leather wallets and brief and attache cases are also excellent holiday gifts, and men's and women's wallets include Rolfs, St. Thomas and Bosca. A special half-price sale is offered in Anne Klein wallets.

A full selection of the popular Totes items, including gloves, hood wraps, slippers and umbrellas, among many others, is also in stock from $9.99, and there is also a variety of Isotoner gloves and slippers.

Fossil watches and the fun Swatch watches in a variety of designs and colors start at $29.99, and Susan Greene is also noted for its extensive jewelry selection.

FUN & FANCY

Having a little trouble getting the gift ideas flowing? There are always those folks on the list who seem to have everything already, right? Well — herewith are some ideas that are fun and fanciful, decorative, entertaining and even useful.

The holiday spirit will certainly be on display when one wears mini ornament-shaped earrings, little jingle bells, Christmas lights and Santa hat earrings, among others, at $6.50 from The Country Mouse.

A green Christmas tree-shaped sponge for the bath is also from The Country Mouse for $3, and another sponge-type item is "Power Paws" from The Princeton University Store. A large orange and black sponge in the shape of a tiger claw, it can be used to wave at athletic events, and it can also serve as a cushion on those hard stadium seats. ($7.50)

How about something for a special teacher? The "High Tea Mug" has a small receptacle on top to squeeze out the tea bag and is $12.95 from The Cranbury Cook.

Another attractive possibility for a teacher is a package of note cards with pen and ink drawings of different scenes of Princeton. They are $7.50 from My Secret Garden, the gift shop at Terhune's Orchards, and the proceeds go to the YWCA scholarship fund.

Still other gifts for a favorite teacher are Givenchy and Christian Dior hand-embroidered handkerchiefs from The English Shop at $9 and $12 for a set of two handkerchiefs. Herbal hot mats in Christmas and other designs are $14.50 from A Little Bit of What You Fancy. Made in New Jersey, they release a pleasant aroma when a hot plate is placed upon them.

Keeping track of dates can be fun with the special note calendar from What You Fancy for $7.50. In four patterns, the long, narrow design has a separate page for each month and is made in England.

Catching the light is a special experience when you put a glass prism in the window. In several designs, including diamond and tear drop, as well as crystal icicles and humming birds, they start at $5 at The Country Mouse.

Everything from contemporary fashion pieces to timeless, classic gold chains is on display, and there is something for everyone's pocket book and taste. Fourteen-karat gold, markosite and sterling silver are half price, and there are many other excellent values.

Charming onyx, freshwater pearls, hemotite and amethyst bracelets are $13.99 and up, and there are intriguing pins made of a collage of watch parts for $39.99.

Earrings are available in clips or pierced and come in many styles. Rhinestone and crystal earrings, pins, necklaces and bracelets are always a big holiday item, and there is also a selection of the more understated markosite set in sterling silver.

Majorica pearls are a classic gift, and the shop also offers a selection of French enamel pins and earrings at $29.99 and up.

For gifts of outstanding value and many choices, Susan Greene is the place to be! Gift certificates are available, as is a 30-day layaway plan.

The shop is open Monday to Friday 10 to 9, Saturday until 6 and Sunday 12 to 5.

Gifts of elegance and excellence are the hallmark of Gasior's, the furniture and accessory store at 2152 Route 206 in Belle Mead. Known especially for its fine reproduction furniture, it also offers a varied selection of gift items.

Cat lovers will appreciate the variety of decorated cats in wood, ceramic and porcelain in a number of sizes and styles. Other decorative animals include pottery pigs, rabbits and dogs.

A series of porcelain boxes from China are of particular interest because of their unusual design. They have been shaped specifically to accommodate the piece of porcelain from which they are made. In different patterns and colors, they are a special gift at $60.

Gasior's also carries the splendid Winterthur reproduction Port Royal crystal hurricane shades, as well as Henredon Natchez reproductions, including selected pieces, such as servers and chests.

Tole tray tables are also available and include a selection of different styles, such as

A GREAT GIFT

WHAT'S REALLY IMPORTANT IN PRINCETON

By
MARY LOU K. STEVENSON

When two Princeton friends -- rich and well-educated -- set out to check out the really important things in life, there are no surprises as they conclude that money, class, accomplishment, and fame have their place, but...

an attractive tiered design and a tilted table.

The hand-carved wooden folk art Santas in four different styles, starting at $64, continue to be popular, and Gasior's also offers a variety of delightful ceramic cow milk pitchers in a variety of sizes, from $40.

Decorative pillows are another favorite gift item, and a full selection, including assorted needlepoint designs, is in stock, from $100.

Also available are assorted dried flower arrangements in several styles and sizes, which begin at $65, as well as a display of very attractive prints matted on stands from $12 to $24. From France, they are available in various scenes and make a charming house warming or holiday gift.

Lamps in many styles, including crystal, porcelain and brass, are in full supply, and there are the top quality Chapman lamps in brass with antique seeded glass. Candlesticks with hurricanes in all sizes are also very popular.

New to Gasior's this year is a wonderful selection of hand-painted plates from France. Platters, dessert, lunch, fish and cheese plates in flower and fruit designs are available at $12 and up. The always popular blue and white porcelain is also in stock and includes plates, bowls, trays and jars, starting at $10.

A special gift this season is a handmade decorative bird cage in pink and white floral design, and children will be delighted with the carved wooden rocking horse.

A special feature of Gasior's is the children's playroom. Toys, an old-fashioned desk and blackboard will keep the kids entertained while Mom and Dad shop.

SILVER SHOP SELECTIONS: A fine assortment of silver, porcelain and antique jewelry is on display at The Silver Shop on Palmer Square. Raia Rullo holds one of the silver plate picture frames imported from Italy. Beautifully made, they are available in ovals, rounds, rectangles and squares, including a handsome hand-hammered frame done in relief. A full selection of sterling silver frames is also available.

Gasior's is open Monday to Saturday 10 to 5:30 and Thursday until 9.

If someone on your list loves plants but lacks a green thumb, Creative Hydroponics, at 411 Town Center, Route 206 in Hillsborough, has just the thing. The hydroponic system involves growing plants in a soil-free environment, which requires minimum care. An indicator even lets you know when watering is necessary.

The lush, healthy-looking plants at Creative Hydroponics are testimony to the hydroponic system. Plants of all types, including a number of holiday specialties, are available.

An excellent gift for someone new to the hydroponic system is the transplant gift set (any plant that grows in soil can grow hydroponically). This kit includes two small pots with clay pebble aggregate, water indicator, a book on bydroponics and nutrient at a special $19 price.

The Norfolk Island pine, from $16, is a festive gift. Decorated with red berries, bows and candy canes, it is available in table top and floor sizes. It is a fine gift idea for home or office and can easily serve as a Christmas tree.

Many home gardeners enjoy growing their own lettuce and tomatoes, and now they can do it right in the middle of winter with the indoor home vegetable garden, available for $125.

Among the plants, some special holiday items include flowering red hibiscus, orchids in assorted colors at $35, and a number of unusual cacti (available in hyrdroponics for the first time).

The mini braided-ficus tree in bonsai style is in stock in five different varieties, and there are also large one-of-a-kind trees, such as Kentia palm and coconut palms.

Terrariums make a special gift, and Creative Hydroponics offers a selection of 10- and 12-inch glass bubble balls that are very popular, from $29.

There is a wide range of other plants, from $10 and up, with a median price of $16 to $22.

Christmas baskets with poinsettia design are $19, and there are also very pretty red baskets with porcelain handles, as well as an extensive variety of other containers.

Creative Hydroponics offers gift certificates and a layaway plan. It is open Monday to Friday 10 to 6, Thursday until 8 and Saturday 10 to 5. Hours will be extended for holiday shopping.

Nothing is more appealing than a cozy fire in the fireplace on a cold winter's night. The snap of the logs, the warmth of the glow - who can resist?

Bowden's Fireside Shop at 1731 Nottingham Way, Hamilton Township, is a specialist in keeping the home fires burning. It carries a complete supply of fireplace accessories, including glass doors, custom screens, tools, andirons, gas log sets and grate heaters.

Glass doors are becoming increasingly popular, as people are more concerned about conserving energy. The glass doors help retain the warm air in the room and keep it from escaping up the chimney.

The grate heater is another energy saver. A device with a circulating fan design sits inside the fireplaces and circulates additional warm air into the room, especially when used in conjunction with glass doors.

Also popular are the gas log sets, which are favorites for their convenience and easy maintenance. They start on command and can actually create more warmth than a wood fire, says Bowden's owner, Gary Bowden. There are also grate heater designs specifically for the gas log systems.

Other gift ideas include wood holders in many different styles, including the traditional polished brass. Wood carriers are an always-welcome gift and are also available in many styles, including the popular canvas, in a price range of $12 to $24.

Screens are $45 and up and are available in mesh, brass and black with brass trim. Tool sets and fire screens are popular gifts at $45 and up, and there is also an assortment of small items, such as one-of-a-kind hand-carved wooden match holders.

Starting the fire can sometimes be a challenge, and Bowden's has a variety of products to help, including fat wood, a high resin Southern pine. And don't forget the bellows to keep the fire going.

A great gift for a popcorn lover is a popcorn popper equipped with a long handle, especially for fireplace popping. It is in the $20 range.

Bowden's also carries decorative fireplace fans in several designs and colors from $17 to $29.

In addition, the shop has added a selection of decorative items this year, such as four- to five-inch-wide Italian accent mirrors from $9 to $29.

Gift certificates are available, and the store is open Monday through Saturday 10 to 6, Tuesday through Friday until 8, and Sunday 12 to 4.

Princeton Army & Navy has been a favorite of shoppers for more than four decades. It is noted for quick dependable service and a full selection of basic clothing needs.

Reasonably priced gift ideas are in abundance. Lee and Levi jeans, starting at $24.95, are always a practical selection. Available in men's and women's styles, and in pre-washed, stone-washed or white-washed, they make a welcome gift. Levi's offers a new style this year, the 550 Fit, which sports a relaxed fit and tapered leg.

There is a large assortment of sweat clothes, which allows mixing and matching of colors and weights. Pants and tops start at $10.95, with thermal-lined and hooded zippered styles priced higher. There is also a big line of Princeton logo merchandise, including sweatshirts, hooded sweats and T-shirts in various designs for children and adults.

Sweaters are one of the best holiday gifts, and Princeton Army & Navy has a wonderful selection of wool, acrylic and cotton. There are Shetlands, Shakers, patterns and dots and Ragg wool. All colors and patterns are on display, many in three tones.

A Princeton Army & Navy specialty is its large assortment of 100% cotton turtlenecks in many colors. At $9.95, this is a popular present.

Flannel shirts are a traditional Christmas gift, and there is a big selection of 100% cotton flannel in all colors and plaids at $19.95. The heavier-weight chamois shirts are also popular at $24.95.

Traditional pea jackets and longer pea coats will keep the sailor (or anyone else on your list) warm this winter, as will the selection of parkas and ski jackets.

Denim jackets, both lined and unlined, come in different finishes to coordinate with the store's corduroy and khaki pants. Hats, caps, gloves, scarves and heavy socks are popular gifts, and many of these accessories are now in Ragg wool of different colors.

A good selection of web and leather belts is in stock at $5.95 and up, and snow, slush and cold-weather boots are popular this time of year. The shop carries Sporto for men and women, as well as Herman Survivors, an insulated, waterproof boot of New Buck leather.

Campers will appreciate the backpacks and duffle bags of corudranylon. Lightweight and waterproof, they are $14.95 and up.

Fun stocking stuffers are colorful bandanas at $1.50, different varieties of the famous Swiss Army knife, and the Mag flashlight, small enough to carry in a pocket, but with an adjustable beam, at $10.95. Also available are the Free Style watches, watch bands, and wallets in bright and colorful designs.

Gift certificates are available, and Princeton Army & Navy is open Monday through Friday 9 to 5:30, Saturday 9 to 5, and Sunday 11:30 to 4. Hours may be expanded for holiday shopping.

A welcome remembrance for someone special (male or female) is a gift certificate from Vallerie European Spa, located on the second floor of 252 Nassau Street. This is a gift that is fun and revitalizing all at the same time.

with a special pen. Ornament, pen and monogram are offered for $10.

Monogramming starts at $6 for three initials or five-letter names. Items in stock range from $9 for eye glass cases to $110 for garment bags. Pillows are $15 to $75, bookcovers $10 and 36-inch Battenberg table covers $30.

Gift certificates are available, and Le Nom is open Monday-Saturday 10 to 9 and Sunday 12 to 5.

For 23 years, The Piccadilly has offered an elegant selection of classic women's clothing. The popular Nassau Street store carries a full range of merchandise, including dresses, skirts, blouses, sweaters, jackets and accessories. From winter wool to casual cruisewear, the shop continues to provide fashion at its best.

Accessories enhance the look of any outfit, especially during the holidays, when it is nice to dress up a bit more. The store specializes in a selection of one-of-a-kind silk belts in bright, hot colors for the holidaya, aa well as cooler pastels. In braided, multi-color designs, they can furnish a striking accent, and their velcro closings provide an adjustoble fit. Cotton and velvet belts are also available and start at $30. A coin stretch belt in gold or silver is a popular gift idea at $20, and there is also an assortment of multi-colored stretch belts.

Buckles in gold or silver, as well as combination gold and silver have been excellent gift ideas, and the shop offers many styles, as well as the strip belts. The black satin strip offers a glamourous look.

You can't miss with a gift of jewelry. The Piccadilly has an intriguing selection, including both clip and pierced earrings, as well as ribbed flat neck collars and linked collars in gold and silver, from $25.

"DECK THE HALLS"

The whiff of balsam and a country Christmas flavor is in the air at Baumley Nursery Landscaping & Garden Center, on Route 27, just past Kingston.

Fresh cut and live trees, as well as a full selection of wreaths and roping are in full supply. Pennsylvania-grown cut trees include Douglas, Fraser and concolor fir and Colorado blue spruce. Ranging from table top size to 14 feet, they start at $12. Colorado, blue spruce, Douglas fir, white pine and dwarf Alberta spruce are among the live trees.

A chart with identifying branch and information about each tree is helpful to customers deciding on the appropriate tree for their needs.

Also available, starting at $18, is a selection of handcrafted natural wreaths, using fresh greens, holly, mountain laurel, white pine and baby's breath. Undecorated balsam wreaths start at $6.50.

Roping of white pine and princess pine and boxwood is available at $.50 a foot, and there is a wide selection of poinsettias, including red, white, pink and marbled, from $3.49.

Baumley's also offers a charming Country Christmas Shoppe, brimful of decorated theme trees, lighted Christmas villages, ornaments and decorations galore.

The shop is now an authorized dealer for the lighted Snow Villages, Heritage Villages and Dickens' Villages. Many of these are collector's editions, and the lighted ceramic houses are a big seller, starting at $30. In addition, a full range of accessories, including people, lamp posts, trees, etc., is available.

Another very collectible item is the selection of white bisque Snow Babies at $7.99 and up. There are also Snow Baby ornaments.

Old world folk art Santas of fabric mache are popular at $14.99 and up, and there is also an assortment of moss-covered wood nativities, from $49.99.

Boxed Christmas cards, potpourri, toys for kids, trimmings for do-it-yourself decorators and the very popular tree removal bag are all on display at the shop. There is also a delightful hand-made gingerbread house, which will be raffled on December 23. Visitors to the shop may enter their names in the drawing.

Baumley's also offers complimentary hot cider and refreshments and is open Monday through Saturday 9 to 8 and Sunday 10 to 6.

Square and oblong scarves in silk and wool challis are available in wonderful colors and patterns, and quilted handbags in a variety of prints are carried all year now. In three sizes, they stort at $40.

Sleepwear is always welcome, and the shop carries special cotton knit nightgowns in wonderful prints, including some with mandarin collars. Lanz flannel nightgowns are a specialty at The Piccadilly, and in addition to the traditional Granny gowns, there is also an open neck, slit front style, as well as fun ski pajamas.

Sweaters include many handknits and a superb variety of colors, patterns and styles. Pullover and cardigans in wool and cotton are all on display. A full range of the popular Leon Levin cotton/polyester shirts, including the one-size-fits-all style in many colors and in solids and prints, is also available. Deans cotton/poly turtlenecks in several colors are known for their comfortable neck fit and are a favorite gift at $21.

Coordinates continue to be in demand for many occasions, and the shop offers an outstanding collection, including a silk-like polyester group in bright solids and wonderful prints. Pull-on pants, skirts with elastic waistband, "bomber" jackets and large over-shirts offer a variety of combinations. They are versatile enough to be worn for the holidays or for cruisewear.

A two-piece floral print on red background is well-priced at $102 and can serve as an appropriate holiday outfit, as well as a suitable style for cruisewear.

Skirts are available in solids and tweed, corduroy, wool and denim. Especially striking is an ultra suede jade skirt. Its classic line can be complemented with one of the braided silk belts, and a double-breasted silk-like off-white poly blouse (also available in purple, royal blue and teal) adds the finishing touch.

Another popular item is the party pant in purple, black and navy. Similar to the loose-fitting Palazzo pants, they can coordinate nicely with a dressy blouse.

Boiled wool jackets continue to be popular, and a variety of styles include the traditional, as well as a tone-on-tone window pane design. The sweater jacket, part boiled wool and part knitted, is a big seller and available in many colors.

Indeed, with the many choices available at The Piccadilly, one is limited only by the imagination. The staff is always happy to help with coordinating ideas.

Gift certificates and gift wrapping are available, and the shop is open Monday-Friday 10 to 5:30 and Saturday until 5.

Hand-crafted gifts and home furnishings are the specialty of Now Fancy That, located at 877 Route 206 in Belle Mead. The shop is especially fun to visit because it is set up like a house, with living room, kitchen, bath and two bedrooms, all decorated with colorful holiday gifts.

Many of the handcrafted items, including pierced lampshades and dried flower arrangements and wreaths, are made by owner Shirley Daley.

Santa has definitely paid an early visit to the shop. In fact, he is everywhere! Handcrafted wooden folk art Santas of many types and sizes are on display, and there are also numerous wood, papier mache and canvas Santa Christmas tree ornaments.

An "Ironing Board Santa" is really an old ironing board, charmingly painted and decorated. Now you know what to do with that old ironing board! There is also a Santa lamp, a driftwood Santa, and a grapevine Santa wreath with wooden skates.

Many of us leave a little snack for Santa on Christmas Eve, and Now Fancy That bas very special "Santa" cookie plates. Hand-painted with delightful designs, they can also be personalized (for next year) and are $22.50.

Hand-made baskets are in abundance, and dried flower arrangements and wreaths are in the Williamsburg style. They start at $12, with more typical prices between $20 and $50, and they can make a lovely holiday centerpiece. A beautiful holiday swag would be a splendid addition above the fireplace.

A wonderful wooden wreath, decorated with angels and sleigh, is especially appropriate for hanging in between the front door and the storm door, and there is also a large variety of angels of all kinds, including tree toppers and ornaments, as well as a charming wooden primitive standing angel for $25.

Children will love the handmade cloth dolls, including Raggedy Ann and Andy, as well as the limited edition teddy bears. There is also a selection of wooden dolls depicting the characters from Little Women.

Lamps and lampshades, quilts, hand-painted trays and hanging cupboards, and copper cows and roosters, as well as personalized signs, are also available.

Gift certificates and gift wrapping are offered, and the shop is open Monday-Friday 10 to 9, Saturday until 5, and Sunday 12 to 5.

One-stop shopping has become increasingly available at Urken's Supply Co. on Witherspoon Street. The longtime store has expanded its merchandise to include a wide variety of items for the home. In addition, Interiors At Urken's offers a professional interior design service right at the store

If you are planning a holiday party for New Year's Eve, it is still not too late to get some bome furnishing ideas. How about a $50 gift certificate for an hour interior design consultation? Wall paper, window treatments, custom cabinetry, custom tiles and wooden floors are just some of the possibilities from Design At Urken's, and gift certificates are also available for all of these products.

A variety of other good ideas are available from the store. Fondue sets are a great gift for holiday fun at $24.95, and there are also the versatile griddles, flat on one side, ribbed on the other, for pan-broiling, as well as for pancakes.

Wagner cast iron cookware is very popular, as is Revere and Farberware, and new this year are hand-held mini woks for stir frying at $12.98.

Salad Shooters are handy at $44.95, and the juice extractor is an excellent gift. Blenders, toasters, toaster ovens (including the top-of-the-line DeLonghi) are all in stock, and the selection of coffee makers includes electric perc and drip. The Sanyo mill and brew model at $105 grinds the beans and makes the coffee in one fell swoop.

Special gift items at Urken's this year include Faux Finish kits, which can be a great winter project. They can spruce up furniture and walls and bring a whole new look to an old favorite. The Fleck Stone kit at $16.99 is appropriate for lamps, clocks, furniture and walls, and faux marbelizing kits ($12.99) are often used for furniture, boxes, switchplates and accessories. It's fun, creative and easy to do.

In the tool category, Urken's is also offering some special prices on the durable, contractor-grade quality Makita power tools. The cordless two-speed, reversible driver-drill is $139.95, and the super duty 7 and 1/4-inch circular saw is $129.95. Also available is the keyless cbuck at $18.95. Other power tools from Black & Decker and Skil are in stock, as is a full line of hand tools by Stanley, Disston, Channel Lock and Crescent.

Urken's staff will also work with customers to create a tool box, and there are also small boxes for children with working basic tools.

Fireplace equipment is very popular at the store, and sets are available from $24.95 to $100. Individual tools can be bought separately, from $5.

Kids will appreciate the Flexible Flyer sleds in three sizes, starting at $39.95, as well as the full supply of Christmas supplies, including tree lights, replacement lights and outdoor lights.

Urken's is open Monday-Saturday 8 to 5:30 and Sunday 10 to 4 through December 23. There will be evening hours the week before Christmas.

Gifts of antique jewelry, silver and porcelain are offered at The Silver Sbop on Palmer Square, and customers will find a display of many handsome items.

The old and new come together at this popular shop. Estate jewelry includes pieces from the past, and customers appreciate the fact that they are now often one-of-a-kind. Such items as hand-made silver pieces from Georg Jensen,

"ITS FLEECE WAS WHITE AS SNOW": These baby lambs, along with their mother, have arrived at Ambleside Gardens & Nursery in Belle Mead, just in time for the holidays. They are a focal point for visitors to the garden center, as is an electric train/snow village display for "kids" of all ages. A full selection of cut and live trees, including Fraser, concolor and Douglas fir, and blue, white, Norway and dwarf Alberta spruce, is available from $7.99. Undecorated wreaths range from $7.49 to $79.99, and custom decorated wreaths, including balsam, Noble fir, juniper, laurel and boxwood, are available from $19.99. There is also a full supply of Princess and white pine, cedar and laurel sprays, roping and garlands.

a magnificent 5k emerald cabachon ring surrounded by diamonds set in platinum, and an 18k gold-bangle bracelet with flowers (rubies, diamonds and sapphires) cut out and in relief are some of the specialties on display. A wonderful gold horse pin from Cartier is unique because of its movable parts — head, legs, tail, etc.

The shop has an elegant Grand Baroque sterling silver service for 12 by Wallace and also a selection of clocks with silver frames (sterling and silver plate) in different styles and designs, with quartz movements.

Sterling and silverplate candlesticks are wonderful gifts, and the sturdy and substantial Corinthian column style is a classic. There is also a set of authentic art deco candlesticks in a gracefully curving design.

Fun and useful items include the traditional English toast rack in silver plate, which is often used as a letter holder. At $29, it is specially treated and needs no polishing. Also available is a popular series of Sheffield serving spoons at $24 and up.

Sterling serving pieces, napkin rings and a variety of picture frames in all sizes are available, and there are also Lunt boxed silver plate Christmas ornaments at $15. Sterling bookmarks at $29 are a useful gift, as are sterling purse mirrors and flat perfume atomizers. Silver wine coasters and wine bottle stoppers are also good gift ideas.

The Silver Shop also offers an unusual selection of Russian icons, made especially for the shop. Depictions of saints, they are pure silver and signed by the artist, from $165.

Tiny porcelain Limoges hand-done pill boxes in a variety of styles and shapes (including an orange) are $85 and up, and a stamp box at $125 is something special. There is a collection of English and French tea size and demitasse cups and saucers, as well as a set of blue and white Wedgwood plates, each with a different scene of the Princeton University campus, dating to 1930.

Gift certificates and gift wrapping are available, and the shop is open Monday through Saturday 10 to 6, Wednesday through Friday until 8:30 and Sunday 12 to 5.

Over the years, Princetonians have come to rely on Nassau Interiors for its fine furniture, lamps, mirrors and a variety of other accessories — everything from globes to bookends to waste baskets.

The respected store is one of the few family businesses left in Princeton, and its high quality furniture, including upholstered, has attracted generations of loyal customers. In addition to its line of custom sofas, with sumptuous down cushions, and in a wide selection of fabrics, Nassau Interiors offers sofa beds for immediate delivery at $499 and up.

The store has also recently added a new line of storage systems. Professional's Choice is a heavy-duty epoxy-coated steel system, which is suitable for many uses in the home or office. Versatile and flexible, it can be used for many organizational and storage needs.

Nassau Interiors is also noted for its wonderful selection of lamps and mirrors. Owner Leonard LaPlaca is known for his skill as a lamp designer, especially using an Oriental vase as the lamp's base. There is an attractive display of the lamps, including small Oriental ginger jar lamps at $55 and Hunter's Horn lamps (with hunting scenes on the shade), from $45.

Baldwin brass lamps are also available, as are candlesticks and a full supply of other brass items, including bookends at $59 (always an excellent corporate gift).

Oriental porcelain is another important example of Nassau Interior's merchandise, and the store carries one of the most complete lines in the area. Plates are $20 and bowls $50.

Other gift items include a variety of faux scrimshaw desk accessories from England, duck decoys at $45 and up and inlaid wood picture frames from $15.

Luggage racks at $48 are a great idea for the guest room, and many people can always use the handy TV snack tables. A set of two starts at $139.

Decorative pillows are $35 and up. Tapestry with fringe

PAW PRINTS

Our four-legged and furry friends should not be forgotten this season, and the area stores have seen to it that there are many choices for these faithful pals.

Something to eat is always a good present, and The Cranbury Cook offers "Chef Fido," four vet-approved dog biscuit recipes, with double-sided plastic cutter, for $3.95. One side of the cutter makes a four and 1/2-inch biscuit imprinted with "I Love My Dog," and the reverse side makes two smaller biscuits, imprinted with "Puppy".

A Little Bit of What You Fancy offers "Healthy Treats for Dogs and Cats," with recipe and cutter, as well as Christmas stockings for pets. The red plaid dog stocking is decorated with four dog biscuits ($9.50), and a cat face adorns the red plaid cat stocking ($8.50).

"Doggie Bandanas" are available for $3.50 at The Country Mouse, and "Meow Mates," a decorative tin box containing three soft toys with catnip, and "Doggie Delights," four chewy rawhide bones in a tin box are $7 each at Sealfons.

H. Gross & Co. has a full selection of leashes and collars, in a variety of designs and colors. Dog collars are $13 and leashes $11. Cat collars, with heart and mice design, are $10.

are $95, as is a selection of attractive English wool flannel pillows in navy and green in tennis and golf motif.

Artwork is also available at the store, including hand-colored hunting scenes, Williamsburg botanicals and a series of dog prints, starting at $69.

Nassau Interiors offers items within a wide price range. Handsome waste baskets start at $20 and go up to $40 for fabric-covered models. Small area rugs are $15 to $39, and a new line of attractive safari-style bags (decorated with wild animal prints), including handbags and overnight bags, range from $19.95 to $55.

Gift certificates and gift wrapping are available, and there is also a gift registry. The store is open 9 to 5 Monday through Friday, until 8 on Thursday and until 5 on Saturday. Hours will be expanded for holiday shopping.

One of the most popular places to visit at holiday time is Ambleside Gardens & Nursery, located on Route 206 in Belle Mead. Both inside and outside, it provides a splendid setting for holiday trees, plants, decorations and gifts.

Its famous indoor Christmas Shop is again filled with a treasure trove of Christmas delights. More than a dozen trimmed theme trees offer decorating ideas. New this year are the Renaissance tree, with papier mache angels and cherubs, "The Twelve Days of Christmas" tree, including turtledoves, lords a leaping, geese a laying, swans a swimming, etc., the Gold and Silver tree, the Potpourri tree (all ornaments made of potpourri balls and cones) and the "Paws & Claus" pet tree, decorated with cat and dog ornaments.

There are also the very popular lighted Christmas villages and the Cat's Meow wooden villages. This year's special collection is Colonial Virginia, and the buildings may be bought separately or together, from $3.99.

Santas are in abundance, and all types (wood, papier mache and resin) are available, including the very special kilted Scottish "Santa MacNicholas" for $150. Herr Santa from the Black Forest is also on display. In addition, customers will find the unique chalkware handpainted Santas and Snowmen, handcast from antique chocolate molds by Vaillancourt, from $39.

Ambleside is noted for its outstanding selection of nativities from all over the world. They are available in every price range, size and style, including wood, pottery, clay, papier mache and pewter, among others.

Also popular are the colorful Byers' Choice Carolers. Different-sized carolers from times gone by start at $42.

Ambleside also offers its special Russian Collection of nested dolls, from the little mini dolls at $12.99 to the rare collector's sets at $450. Small Russian decorative eggs are $26.99

There is also a handsome Polish wood carving of an 18-inch wood carver and a very special Russian wood carving of Santa riding a horse.

The Scandinavian section displays an assortment of different-sized wooden gnomes scampering about, and there is also a German area, including such specialties as the wooden pyramids, old German ornaments such as cuckoo clocks, as well as Ambleside's extensive selection of German nutcrackers and smokers, from $34.99.

A full selection of poinsettias, including red, pink, white and jingle bells (white flecked), starting at $3.49, are available. There are also little boxwood trees, which can serve as table centerpieces for $37.99, as well as many dried flower arrangements and wreaths, from $27.99. A variety of wonderful flat wall baskets filled with assorted dried herbs and flowers can hang inside or outside. And the all important mistletoe is available for $1.99.

Ambleside also offers beautiful and unusual bird houses in cypress wood, which is known for its durability, at $239 and up. A selection of bird feeders starts at $19.99.

There is also an assortment of wind chimes, as well as grapevine reindeer and carolers, and grapevine angels covered with moss for $36.99.

Finally, if you have been very good, and you think your traditional stocking is just not big enough to hold all the anticipated rewards, Ambleside carries a selection of kingsize Jute bags, decorated with Santa designs, from $16.

Ambleside is open Sunday through Tuesday 10 to 6 and Wednesday through Saturday 10 to 8.

OFFER EXPIRES DEC. 18

For a limited time, you have the power to turn your piano into a Steinway.

If you've always dreamed about owning a Steinway, now you have the power to make that dream come true. Because for a limited time only, we'll take your current instrument in trade and apply up to 100% of what you paid toward the purchase of a new Steinway grand. Simply bring in your original sales receipt. If you no longer have it, we'll give you the maximum fair market value for your piano. Whether you bought it at our store or not. All that we ask is that the instrument be in reasonably good shape.

And to make things easier for you, we are offering a special financing plan for those qualified. Your present piano serves as the down payment, so you don't even need to put money down.

Call today for all the details. Because an offer this powerful may never come along again.

SShhh! McCarter Theatre's "A Christmas Carol" Is Not Only Wonder-Filled but Educational, Too

HAPPY ENDING: A transformed Scrooge, played by Jeff Weiss, reaches to help crippled Tiny Tim (Mark Populus) in the McCarter production of the Nagle Jackson adaptation of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." Performances continue through Christmas Eve.

Don't tell the kids, but the Nagle Jackson adaptation of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol, now wowing audiences at the McCarter Theatre, is not only wonder-filled and generally "awesome" — to quote your reviewer's 12-year-old grandson, Mark — it is also richly educational.

To begin with, it is a spectacular celebration of the power of imagination. To think that all those miraculous things happening on the great McCarter stage (or in this case stages, as one great setting by Brian Martin glides by into another) actually were born in the fertile brain of one normal human being!

News of the THEATRES

It also demonstrates the power of the word: what Dickens put on paper not only survives as a story to be read, but it permits a score of trained actors and some talented amateurs to create a world of enchantment for two hours.

It teaches the art and great value of reading by, in effect, "reading" the book to audiences. Surely young students will attack other works of Dickens, and classics generally, with more enthusiasm after the thrill of seeing A Christmas Carol.

It introduces children to the art of acting and the pleasure of observing it, allowing many to see "live" theater for the first time, and to form a taste and appetite for plays that can be an important part of their lifelong education.

All of this in addition to the moral message, clear as spray-painted graffiti on a white wall: Love people, not just money, or risk a pinched and grim and premature old age.

Fresh as Ever

As to the quality of this year's production of the work launched by McCarter in 1976: excellent, and under Francis X. Kuhn's sensitive and creative direction, fresh as ever and filled with bright touches we never noticed before, though they must have been there; proving good things can be newly enjoyed over and over.

In the nearly actor-proof role of Scrooge, Jeff Weiss is appropriately sour at the start. If he seemed to go sweet a little Theater Series Opens Jan 15!

The Glass Menagerie
by Tennessee Williams
directed by Emily Mann
There is perhaps no stage journey so heartfelt or compelling as Tom Wingfield's, as he takes us down a forgotten alleyway in St. Louis to the home of his youth. Just as Tom is haunted by the memory of those he loves, the entire world will be forever haunted by the beauty and magic in Williams' most lyrical play.
January 15 - February 3

Those the River Keeps written and directed by David Rabe
McCarter is honored to present the world premiere of Tony Award-winning David Rabe's new play which centers around an ex-con/would-be-actor who tries to understand how he is to live "in such a world of betrayal as this one where treachery is the rule of thumb."
February 12 - March 3

A Rhythm & Blues Musical
Betsey Brown book by Ntozake Shange and Emily Mann
directed by Emily Mann
music by Baikida Carroll
Betsey Brown follows a sensitive young black girl's passage from childhood to the threshold of womanhood, set against the background of the civil rights movement. Baikida Carroll's diverse score is a virtual history of American music, incorporating jazz, gospel, rhythm and blues, calypso and ragtime, making Betsey Brown a musical for people of all ages.
April 2 - April 21

The Film Society
by Jon Robin Baitz
The Film Society is set in 1970, in Blenheim, a crumbling boys' school in Durban, South Africa. With both wit and passion, the play shows how institutions like Blenheim and it's teachers perpetuate a decaying society. Jon Robin Baitz is an exciting and important new voice in the American theater.

Theatres

sooner than drama would dictate, a Sunday matinee audience of about three children per adult sounded vastly pleased with him.

The narration, vitally important in the story's telling, is clearly and effectively delivered by Graeme Malcolm and Don Mayo, while the Cratchits, from Bob (Christopher McHale) and Mrs. C (Marceline Hugot) right down to Tiny Tim (split between Mark Populus and Teddy Beresford) seemed deeply convincing as a family unit, making their plight and simple pleasures especially touching.

The ghosts — Christmas Past (Shelley Delaney with a dancer's grace and litheness), Christmas Present (a rich-voiced Robert Colston), and Christmas Yet To Come (a forbidding and foreboding Mark Roth plus superstructure) — are beautifully cast, as they generally have been. Henson Keys is a wonderfully scary Marley.

Those two waifs, Ignorance (True Star Nager-Urian) and Want (Leslie Ann Haines), have only a moment, emerging from Yet To Come's skirts, but they make an indelible impression.

Liveliest Hoedown Yet

Robert Colston doubles vividly as Fezziwig, Scrooge's jolly old employer, and Edwina Lewis is his equally hearty missus. Their Christmas hoedown is surely the liveliest yet, incorporating even a kickline!

Scrooge's nephew Fred (Ray Virta) and his Scrooge-disapproving wife (Raye Lankford, who doubles touchingly as the loving lost sister of Scrooge's youth) throw a nice party for Scrooge to eavesdrop in on.

James Doerr brings personal force and a good background of acting to Old Joe, the small-time wheeler-dealer who would buy Scrooge's old clothes for peanuts from Mrs. Dilher (Edwina Lewis, again).

Many other good actors, some small and in small roles, add depth and strength to a production in which every touch counts.

McCarter's new Literary Manager, Evangeline Morphos, in a graceful program note, quotes Robert Louis Stevenson as saying he "cried his eyes out" over Dickens' Christmas writings: "But oh, dear God, they are good — and I feel so good after them — I want to go out and comfort someone..."

Emily Mann, McCarter's new Artistic Director, showed good judgment in introducing her regime with so outstanding a version of her predecessor's dramatization of the quintessential Christmas tale.

Two-Character Comedy To Benefit Princeton Rep

Theatre director Milton Lyon and actress Georgine Hall will perform a special reading of The Best Christmas Pageant Ever, by Barbara Robinson on Thursday, December 29, at the Arts Council. The evening, which will benefit Princeton Rep Company, will begin with a buffet supper.

The Best Christmas Pageont Ever concerns the efforts of a woman and her husband to put on the annual church Christmas pageant despite having to cast the Herdman kids — probably the meanest, nastiest, most inventively awful kids in the history of the world. Mayhem and fun break out when the Herdmans meet the Christmas story in a head-on collision.

Milton Lyon is familiar to area audiences as the founder of McCarter Theatre and longtime director of the highly successful PJ&B productions. Mr. Lyon's career also includes work as an actor and director on the stage and television.

Actress Georgine Hall has appeared on Broadway in Present Laughter, 'Night Mother, and Grown-Ups. Her Off-Broadway credits include: A Lie of the Mind, The Morriage of Bette and Boo and True West.

Tickets are on sale at $35 for Friends and $100 for Patrons. Proceeds will go toward Princeton Rep's first winter/spring season, scheduled from February through June. For more information, or to order tickets, call 921-3682 or Benefit Chair Julie Clark at 921-6606.

Beauty and the Beast At MCCC Kelsey Theatre

ArtReach Touring Theater of Cincinnati will present Beauty and the Beast on Saturday in Mercer County Community College's Kelsey Theater. Show times are at 1, 3 and 5 p.m., and tickets are $7.

When Beauty learns to love the Beast regardless of his hideous appearance, she is rewarded by his transformation into a handsome prince. The production features music, ornate costumes and masks.

ArtReach Touring Theater is a professional company now in its 14th season. The troupe was named the best new children's theater in the country by the Children's Theater Association of America.

For more information or to order tickets by phone, call 586-4695. MasterCard and Visa are accepted.

Creative Theatre Play, Holiday Party, Sunday

Creative Theatre's holiday party and performance of the original musical Where the Snow Flies Up will take place this Sunday at 3 in Auditorium A at Scanticon-Princeton.

Where the Snow Folls Up is a space adventure in which a boy and his sister fly in his homemade robot into outer space. There they meet aliens and he discovers that although customs may differ, holidays fill a universal need.

The musical will be performed by members of Creative Theatre's acting company. There will be refreshments with the cast following the performance. Tickets are $6 per person, any age.

For reservations call 924-3489.

"Hansel and Gretel" Set By Princeton Opera Ass'n

The Princeton Opera Association at Rider College will present Honsel ond Gretel at the Rider College Fine Arts Thcatre on December 21, 22, 28, and 29 at 7 and on December 23, 30, and January 1 at 3.

Composed by Englebert Humperdinck, the work will be presented in a new English translation by the director, Sue A. Robbins. Ms. Robbins feels that most current translations of the German libretto by Adelheid Wette reflect British, rather than American English, and contain many phrases characteristic of thc era in which the opera was composed, making comprehension difficult for today's young audiences.

Robert Loughran will conduct the opera, with singers from the Princeton area. The orchestra will consist of area professionals and principal musicians from the Princeton High School Orchestra, where hc teaches. Kerina McAdams-Connor will choreograph.

PRINCETON OPERA'S "Hansel and Gretel" features Krystal Hardenburg-Thomas as Gretel, Carol Carpenter as Hansel and Eileen Shelly as the Witch. The Humperdinck classic opens Friday, December 21, at the Rider College Fine Arts Theatre.

The cast includes Carol Carpenter and Margaret Evans, alternating as Hansel; Kristal Hardenburg-Thomas and Robin Massic as Gretel; and Eileen Shelly performing the double role of the Witch and Mother. John Woodard will perform the role of the Father; the Sandman will be played by Laurel Chamberland, the Dew Fairy by Peggy Brown and Lynn Snyder.

Ticket prices are $12 for adults, $8 for children and students, and senior citizens. Group rates are also available. To order tickets by mail, write to The Princeton Opera Association, c/o Rider College Fine Arts Department, 2083 Lawrencevillе Road, Lawrenceville 08648, or call 587-5857.

PU Jazz Ensembles With Vibraphone Soloist

The Princeton University Jazz Ensembles will feature vibraphonist Steve Nelson as guest soloist with the big bands on Sunday. The concert will begin at 8:30 in Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall. Tickets are $8 ($4 for students with I.D.) and may be purchased at the box office in Alexander Hall.

Mr. Nelson was the winner of Downbeat Magazine's 37th Annual International Critics Poll for "Talent Deserving Wider Recognition" in the vibraphone category. He has performed and recorded internationally. Mr. Nelson has made two albums as a leader: Full Nelson on Sunnyside Records and Live Session I ot the Acireole Jazz Festivol on Red Records.

Holiday Concert Is Set By Mostly a Cappella

Mostly a Cappella, a choral ensemble directed by Norm Hurst, will present a holiday concert on Sunday at 7:30 at the Hopewell Presbyterian Church, routes 518 and 654 in Hopewell.

The concert will include music by Praetorius, Bruckner, Holst, and P.D.Q. Bach, and an audience sing-along of holiday favorites. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

PHS Winter Concert

The 45th annual winter concert of Princeton High School music groups will be presented on Thursday, December 20, at 8 p.m. in the Princeton University Chapel.

The concert will feature students performing in vocal and instrumental groups. The choirs will be under the direction of William Trego and Nancianne Parrella. The orchestra will be under the direction of Robert Loughran, and the Symphonic Wind Ensemble will be under the direction of Anthony Biancosino.

The traditional presentation of Bach's Breok Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light and Handel's Hollelujoh Chorus, performed by all the choirs and alumni — who are invited to come up from the audience — will conclude the program.

The concert is free and open to the public. For further information, call 683-4480.

"Laud to the Nativity" Performances Are Set

Voices, an ensemble of professional soloists, and Teamwork Dance, a professional modern dance company, combine their talents to present a family holiday program Saturday at 3:30 at the Pennington Presbyterian Church, 13 South Main Street, Pennington. The concert, which will last about one hour, is suitable for families with children ages 3 and up.

The program will feature a combination of performance by professional artists and participation by children in the audience. Seasonal music will include Hanukkah dances, Christmas carols and a few selections from Handel's Messiah.

IN JOINT CONCERT: From left, are Mary Pat Robertson, director of Teamwork Dance, with Tim Acito, a dancer, and Claire Stadtmueller, a soprano who sings with Voices. All are appearing in performances of "Laud to the Nativity" that is the centerpiece of joint concerts by the two groups this weekend. One will take place Saturday at 3:30 at Pennington Presbyterian Church and the other Sunday at 7:30 at Princeton United Methodist Church.

The centerpiece of the program is a performance of Respighi's Laud to the Nativity, a musical narrative for 12 singers and seven dancers. Written in 1930 and sung in English, this 25-minute piece dramatizes the birth of Jesus with a combination of narrative, dance, costumes, solos and choral music.

Children from the audience will also have the opportunity to participate by conducting the ensemble in Counterpoint of the Animals, a Renaissance madrigal. Young conductors will be invited to experiment with changes in the tempo and dynamics of holiday songs and Hanukkah dances. The whole family can join in singing some familiar holiday songs.

Tickets are $4 for children, $10 for adults and $7 for senior citizens and students.

Parents with young children are encouraged to arrive at least 15 minutes early.

Voices and Teamwork Dance will present a similar Christmas program, including Laud to the Nativity, Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Princeton United Methodist Church. The program also includes Latin motets by Poulenc, Josquin, and Peter Maxwell Davies, Psalm 90 by Charles Ives, as well as familiar excerpts from Handel's Messiah. The audience will also be asked to join the performers for a carol sing.

Tickets for this program are $12.50 general admission and $8 for senior citizens and students. Preferred reserved seating tickets are $18.

Tickets may be reserved by calling Voices at 737-9383.

Sweet Honey in the Rock In Concert at McCarter

Sweet Honey in the Rock, a five-woman a cappella singing group, will perform Saturday, December 29, at 7 at McCarter Theatre. The concert will be sign-interpreted for the hearing impaired by Shirley Childress.

The concept and leadership of Sweet Honey in the Rock rests primarily with Bernice Johnson Reagon, who, as vocal director of the D.C. Black Repertory Theater, founded the group in 1973. Reagon began

Brandenburg Concerti By N.Y. Chamber Group

For the ninth consecutive season, McCarter Theatre will herald in the New Year with a performance of J.S. Bach's complete Brandenburg Concerti by the New York Chamber Symphony of the 92nd Street Y. Violinist Jaime Laredo will conduct the ensemble on Friday, December 28, at 8 at McCarter.

As a solo performer, Mr. Laredo has appeared on concert stages around the world, leaving his mark on violin repertoire from baroque to contemporary. As a chamber musician, he has collaborated with many of the world's greatest artists. As a music administrator, he is director of the chamber music series at the 92nd Street Y in New York City.

As a conductor, Mr. Laredo regularly conducts the Scottish Chamber Orchestra in Europe, and has conducted the orchestra in America during two coast-to-coast tours.

Tickets are $17, $19, $20, $22 and $27. For reservations, call the McCarter Theatre box office at 683-8000, Monday through Saturday.

Play Reading Planned By Princeton Rep Co.

Princeton Repertory Company will present a play reading Sunday at 4 at the Arts Council. The play, the fourth in Princeton Rep's PlayLab series, will be The Confinement by Charlene Redick.

The Confinement is about one woman's struggle with an unwanted pregnancy and the repercussions of her decision in the lives of others. Ms. Redick, of Mobile, Ala., is the author of several plays, short stories, poems and a novel. Her play Autumn Elegy was produced by the Actors Theater of Louisville and the Williamstown Theatre Festival in 1989.

Her play Sister Genevieve opened Princeton Rep's PlayLab in October. The Confinement will be directed by RaeAnn Banker, who also directed Sister Genevieve. Ms. Banker is a recent graduate of the Master of Fine Arts Program in Directing at Ruters University. The Confinement will feature Cynthia Lake, Esther Jenkins, Robert Getz, Herbert McAneny and Mark Moede.

The leading role of Lola will be read by Barbara Gulan of New York City, who originated the role of the social worker in Autumn Elegy. The role of Lola's husband will be read by William Doyle, who was Petruccio in The Taming of the Shrew produced at Rutgers Summerfest 1990.

Other actors featured in the reading will be Jack Poggi, Fabir J. Rodriguez-Ammirato, Rudy Roberson, Tim DeKay, Matthew Boston, John Woloshyn and Susan Riley.

Fortunes of Tiger Hockey Team Have Taken Turn for Worse In Last Three Weeks with Four Losses, Last Two at Home

Three weeks ago, the New York Giants were undefeated, Margaret Thatcher was Prime Minister of Great Britain and the Princeton University hockey team was riding a tidal wave toward first place in the ECAC following an upset of Harvard and a pounding of Dartmouth.

While Phil Simms & Co. manage to recover from a pair of tough losses and the Iron Lady adjusts to life outside of 10 Downing Street, the Tigers are probably wondering if Saddam Hussein will depart Kuwait before they win another hockey game.

SPORTS

Princeton lost its fourth straight contest Saturday night at Baker Rink, 6-3, to St. Lawrence, one night after falling, 8-6, to Clarkson. The Tigers have won just once — over hapless Army — in the six games since the momentous sweep.

The Saints, obviously miffed at being tied by Army the previous evening, charged out to a 4-0 first period lead against the Tigers on Saturday. The onslaught commenced at the 1:37 mark when left wing Chris Wells slammed a puck past senior Ron High at the goalmouth.

Just 59 seconds later, left wing Eric Lacroix poked in a rebound of right wing Andy Pritchard's shot for a power play goal to stake St. Lawrence to a quick 2-0 advantage.

The Saints were not just trouncing Princeton on the scoreboard, but they were punishing the Tigers physically. Countless times during the first period, St. Lawrence players delivered crushing checks to Tigers, who lacked the intensity which characterized the opening weeks of the season.

"In the dressing room the guys are really psyched up," Tiger senior right wing and tri-captain Sean Murphy said. "But when we get out on the ice, we're making mental errors, and other teams are capitalizing on them."

Trailing 4-0 after one period, head coach Jim Higgins yanked High for the second straight night in favor of senior Mark Salsbury. The move appeared to shake up the Tigers, as they dominated the play during the period, outshooting the Saints, 12-5, and putting two goals past Les Kuntar.

The first score came just four seconds into a Princeton power play. Junior center Andre Faust, manning the point on the power play, drilled a shot which senior right wing and tri-captain Sean Murphy tipped past Kuntar.

Three minutes later, Faust fired another shot from the blue line on a Tiger power play which skidded through Kuntar's legs to cut the deficit to 4-2. With the goal, Faust registered the 100th collegiate point of his career.

Hopes of a Tiger comeback were quashed, however, by early third-period goals for St. Lawrence by Pritchard and center Greg Carvel. Faust added his team-leading ninth goal to cap the scoring.

Clarkson put a halt to its three-game losing streak on Friday night with an 8-6 drubbing in which the final score was much closer than the game itself. Higgins pulled High at the 6:31 mark of the opening period, after the starting netminder yielded goals to forwards Scott Thomas and Dave Trombley of the Golden Knights.

"We just weren't ready to play," said Higgins after the game. "I don't know if we were nervous of them, or scared of them."

With a 5-on-3 advantage, the Tigers regrouped as freshman left wing Rob LaFerriere banged in a rebound of junior defenseman Jeff Kampersal's shot to slice the deficit to 2-1 at the 8:38 mark.

But Clarkson defenseman Mikko Tavi returned the favor four minutes later with a rising slapshot that beat Salsbury and upped the lead to 3-1.

Sluggishness again struck the Tigers in the early moments of the second period. The Golden Knights notched two tallies in less than two minutes to extend the margin to 5-1.

Kampersal got one back for Princeton with his first score of the season, rifling a shot past Jason Currie from the point. After entering the contest with one point in eight games, Kampersal figured in three of the six Tiger scores as he saw significant time on the revamped power play, which clicked on an impressive four of nine opportunities.

Also clicking on power plays were the Golden Knights, who converted an astounding four of eight chances, including the third goal of Thomas' hat trick at 11:36. That score increased Clarkson's lead to 6-2.

Tiger senior left wing Joel Gaustad cut the lead to 6-3 when he shoved bome a loose puck with Princeton holding a two-man advantage.

High returned to the net for the third period and was promptly greeted by center Jeff Torrey's shot, which fluttered between High's pads to give the Golden Knights a 7-3 lead.

Two minutes after LaFerriere tipped senior defenseman and tri-captain Sean Gorman's blast past Currie to close the gap to 7-4, Clarkson center Steve Dubinsky beat High with a goalmoutb shot to build a steady 8-4 advantage.

Gaustad added a pair of late goals to complete his first career hat trick. If nothing else, Gaustad's saga is rather interesting. The Hibbing, Minn., native quit the hockey program last season and played only intramural hockey last winter. Now he's back in the varsity fold and has tallied four times as the left wing on Princeton's second line.

It shows you how much things can change over the course of a year. Then again, a lot can change in three weeks, too.

Unbeaten Tigers to Play Rutgers Saturday at 12

As far as wins and losses are concerned, the Princeton basketball team is right where everybody expected it to be heading into the high noon showdown with Rutgers this Saturday in Piscataway.

(ESPN will televise this game beginning at noon)

The Tigers ran their record to 6-0 last week, capturing the Manufacturers Hanover Classic over the weekend with victories over St. Mary's and Iona, and beating Lehigh a week ago Tuesday.

Pete Carril is obviously glad to be at 6-0, but he'll be the first one to say he didn't expect to be there before the season began, and the first to say the undefeated status won't mean a thing against Rutgers. Pending the outcome of a contest this past Tuesday night on the road against Massachusetts, the Scarlet Knights may well be 5-0.

The one thing Carril is happy about is finally to be able to install himself as the underdog after six straight games of being the favorite. Rutgers, playing at home with a screaming, sellout crowd in the RAC, with players such as center Brett Dabbs, forward Keith Hughes and guard Mike Jones, will be a formidable challenge.

Princeton's defense has looked good in every game, allowing a high of just 57 points, and effectively shutting down opposing offenses. The offense, however, has sputtered at times, and will need to be more consistent. Against Iona, for example, the Tigers needed some clutch three-point shooting from Sean Jackson near the

Princeton Hockey Team Quickly Returns To Low Level of Pre-Season Expectations

What one great weekend camouflaged for a brief time is now apparent to all who watched the Princeton hockey team struggle through two lacklustre performances last weekend. The Tigers are not going anywhere this year in the ECAC standings, and can expect to finish right about where they are now — in eighth place.

The pre-season expectations were less than last year, given the loss of several top players through graduation, and this team does not have the physical or mental ability to exceed them. It was not surprising when the Tigers opened with a pair of losses against Cornell and Colgate. But then, came the superb outing in the first home contest, which produced a win over Harvard, the second ECAC loss the Cantabs have suffered so far. The 9-0 rout of a weak Dartmouth team the following night was rewarding, showing the team could avoid an immediate letdown after a big victory.

The Boston University loss was pretty much expected, but when the team handled Army at West Point fairly easily, it seemed coach Jim Higgins' skaters were better than first thought. Now, after four consecutive losses to RPI, Vermont, Clarkson and St. Lawrence, the smoke screen has lifted. All the weaknesses of this team are there for all to see, and the return of defenseman Mike McKee, whenever he does come back, won't cure them all.

Try as they might, goaltenders Ron High and Mark Salsbury are not playing well enough to make a difference. At the moment, both are coming and going from the net with such regularity during each game, that neither can hope to gain any confidence.

The veteran defense, thought to be the strong point, at the outset, is not playing well in front of them. Opposing teams are continually scoring from close range, where their forwards have been roaming free of harassment. The offense has had trouble finishing off plays, and getting a solid shot on net. Its goals last weekend all came after the opponents had taken at least a three-goal lead.

The team as a whole looked tentative and uncertain against a hard charging Clarkson team Friday night. Princeton had swept the Golden Knights a year ago, so they had plenty of incentive. Obviously the Tigers had none.

Thus, after an 8-6 loss that was more one-sided than the score would indicate, it might be expected the Orange and Black would come out charging the next night against St. Lawrence. Not at all; it was 4-0 Saints at the end of one — the same St. Lawrence team that could only manage a 2-2 tie against Army the previous evening. The Cadets are leaving the Division after this season, because they do not feel they can be competitive.

Where does that leave Princeton? The Tigers obviously are going to stay where they are, but this season is all but a wrap. Another glorious upset is certainly possible, maybe a win against Dartmouth in Hanover, another stray game or two may fall into the win column, but little else can be expected.

This week the team heads west to play twice against a Colorado College team that is about the same calibre as the Tigers. Notre Dame will be in Baker Rink Saturday, December 29 for another non-conference game.

The next ECAC tests will come on the road against Brown and Yale in early January. These will complete just the first half of the ECAC season, but losses in both would really signal the end of the season for Princeton.

end to rally for a 58-50 triumph.

Carril has given more players more playing time than ever before, and it should pay off. However, the key for Princeton is to be able to hit the high percentage shot it waits for, and no one save Mueller is doing this with any consistency.

Matt Eastwick has struggled with his shooting, while freshman Chris Mooney has been a little tentative. Coming off the bench, Chris Marquardt and Matt Henshon have added spark to the attack, but they can't be expected to do that every time. Jackson is the guy who has to get it done from the outside, and so far he has been off early in the game, but making up for it down the stretch.

Princeton must improve on offense to have any chance at beating Rutgers, and the teams that follow, because the defense cannot be expected to do as good a job against the kind of high powered teams next on the schedule. After the Scarlet Knights, it will be University of Nevada at Las Vegas, and UC-Santa Barbara, the opponent in the first round of the Cable Car Classic after Christmas.

Iona Hangs Tough

"If we'd lost to Iona, they would have said it was an upset. That's ridiculous."

Carril, who made those comments earlier this week, is paying the price for his reputation for winning, but it does bring added pressure. Coming home with anything less than the championship last weekend would have been viewed as a mistake by everyone.

And yet Iona, which beat Wagner in the first round, held a 40-36 lead late in the second half Saturday night. The Gaels' man-to-man defense had forced 13 Tiger turnovers and was getting its points from Sean Green, who finished with 19.

The game turned at that point on three three-pointers, one by Marquardt and two by Jackson that made it 44-42 Princeton. The Tigers did not relinquish the lead again, building it up to five and then to 10.

For the first time in a while, Old Nassau made 50 percent of its shots (18 of 36) and an impressive nine of 17 from three-point land. Mueller led with 14 points, Jackson followed with 12.

The previous night would definitely have been an upset if the Orange and Black had managed to lose to St. Mary's. It was tied 9-9 in the early going, when Marquardt and Henshon replaced Eastwick and Mooney at the forward spots. They ignited an 18-2 Princeton run that gave the Tigers a 34-18 lead at halftime.

When St. Mary's closed to within eight, 38-30, in the second half, the pair came in again, and helped Princeton pull away to a double figure lead. In playing just 19 minutes, Henshon had 13 points while Marquardt scored six, had three rebounds and four assists in just 15 minutes. They also helped make up for a tough night for Jackson, who made only two of 11 field goal attempts.

Mueller, steady as usual, contributed a game-high 17. What the team needs is to find someone else who can be as reliable as he is. So far, there has always been someone to get the job done on a rotating basis, but that probably won't work all season.

A week ago Tuesday, it was a tight defense that turned the trick for the Tigers in the victory over Lehigh. Using a pressing defense and a tight zone, the Orange and Black allowed the Engineers just 17 first-half points.

Trouble was the home team was doing a pretty good job defensing the Tigers, who could manage just 21 by halftime, on poor eight for 22 shooting, including a horrendous two of 10 from three-point territory. So, when Lehigh went more than seven minutes without scoring in the latter part of the first half, Princeton was unable to pull away.

The hust out came in the second half, but not right away either. With just over six minutes left in the game it was still a 32-26 ball game. The value of a good bench, which Carril has been cultivating from the start, was never more evident.

Neither starting forward Chris Mooney or Matt Eastwick was scoring, so in came reserves Chris Marquardt and Matt Henshon. They combined for 13 points, shifting some of the attention from Jackson, who then began to connect on his shots. He ended with 15 points, and Mueller added 12 plus eight rebounds.

Old Nassau's defense was good enough to produce an amazing 15 steals and 23 turnovers. That's enough to stymie any team, but now that they are entering the big time the next four games, Princeton is going to need a more productive offense to complement the defense.

PHS versus HV Friday In Basketball Opener

When the Princeton High basketball team opens its new season Friday at 8 against Hopewell Valley High in Pennington, it will be trying to escape from the doldrums that have gripped it the past few years.

Last year the Little Tigers won just three of 23 games and only two the year before.

"I'm enthusiastic about this year," said coach Doug Snyder, who is starting his fifth year at the helm. "There is a mood of optimism."

To stop the skid in the loss column, Snyder is counting on ten players: one senior, a freshman, four juniors and four sophomores. The senior is 6-1 Brian Williams, the captain of the team. At the opposite end is Bram Reynolds, a 6-3 heralded freshman who has the potential to do for the Little Tigers' what Bill Bradley did for the Tigers.

Three juniors returning from last year's squad are 5-9 playmaker Ben Stentz, 6-1 Evan Moorhead and 6-0 Taron Conover. Roman Parsons is a 5-10 junior up from the jayvee team.

How well the team fares this year may well depend on the play of the four sophomores. Scott Simmons played the entire season and had a season's high of 19 in the South River Tournament against Timothy Christian; Rodney Derry, 6-3, was brought up for the final game against Peddie in the Mercer County Tournament and scored 13 points. Two up from the jayvee team are 6-2 Scott Schroeder and 6-1 John Procaccini.

It is likely that Reynolds, Derry and Simmons will be in the starting lineup against Hopewell. Which is why Synder says, "We're a year or two away. We're young and inexperienced and we're going to make a lot of mistakes."

Offsetting the inexperience are a number of factors that promise to make this season interesting. High on the list is a change in philosophy. "This year we do have athletes," said Snyder. "We are going to press, we are going to fast break. You are going to see us running and fastbreaking."

Last year Snyder said he was going to depart from his patterned, controlled style of play. "I really just mouthed that philosophy; I never followed through," confessed Snyder.

"That's the way basketball is going in the 90s," observed Snyder. "Up tempo. Push the basketball up." In addition to a faster style offense, Snyder feels the defense will be better this year, too. More intensive.

Then there are these pluses. With Reynolds, Williams and Derry in the lineup the team will have more height. "I'm not as worried about missing shots, how we're going to get rebounds," said Snyder.

He foresees "better shooting across the board" on this year's team, more basketball savvy, more court awareness and better team chemistry. "They're friends off the court. We have not had a whole lot of that," Snyder recalled.

Players Are Committed

Finally, there is a commitment by the players that has Snyder pleased. "We have a group of kids committed to sport year round," he said. Reynolds, he reported, was on a traveling team in his age group, Simmons was a member of an AAU team that went to a national tournament in San Antonio, another player participated in a tournament in Florida. In addition, the players spent four nights a week participating in two summer leagues and attended summer camps.

PHS BASKETBALL COACH AND CAPTAIN: Doug Snyder returns for the fifth year as coach of the Princeton High basketball team which will be captained by senior Brian Williams. The Little Tigers open the season Friday against Hopewell Valley.

In a tri-scrimmage with Freehold and Jackson Township, Snyder reported the Little Tigers held their own against both teams. "Normally, Freehold gets the best of us," he said. The following day in another tri-scrimmage against Warren Hills and Philipsburg, two physically intimidating teams, the Little Tigers did not back down, Snyder said. "We played hard. In the space of two days we saw four different teams; I think that raised our level of intensity."

In the opener against Hopewell, the Little Tigers will be facing a Bulldog team that will be playing for the first time in four years without its big scorer, Tim Van Dyke, who now plays for Trenton State. Hopewell also has a new coach in Russ Selger.

The following day, PHS will participate in the Pennington Tournament, held this year at the Pennington School. In its opening game, PHS will oppose Moorestown Friends at 2:30. Host Pennington will play New Hope-Solebury High School in the second game. The winners and losers will meet in the consolation and championship games on Monday.

As for any predictions about the season, Snyder commented, "McCorristin is always the class of our division. We concede the title to them. We're just hoping to win enough games to qualify for the state tournament. "I've never made it."

But a good thing happened to the popular coach, a former player for Pete Carril at Princeton University, when he got married this fall. Perhaps another 'first' will be making the states.

PHS Skaters Win 4-0 In Ice Hockey Opener

"Overall, considering it was the first game for both teams, it was not the most organized display of hockey," observed John Hutter, the first-year coach of the Princeton High hockey team. But his first game as coach had a satisfying ending. The Little Tigers scored three goals in the final period en route to blanking Steinert, 4-0.

"It's nice to win that first one," agreed Hutter. "It would be nice to retire now — unbeaten, untied, unscored upon," he smiled. Satisfying as the win was, it also revealed, said Hutter, what the team needs to work on.

PHS will next take on two teams that represent the opposite ends of the hockey spectrum in Mercer County. On Thursday at 5:15 at Mercer Rink, the Blue and White will oppose Hightstown, which was one of the dominant teams in the Colonial Valley Conference last year with a 17-6 record. On Tuesday at 3:15, PHS will face off against McCorristin, which is launching its first year in the sport.

"A couple of more wins would be a real confidence booster if that were to happen," said Hutter.

Against Steinert, junior goalie Angus Guberman had a great game, reported Hutter. "If not for him the score could have been quite a bit different. He stopped a couple of breakaways." Guberman was credited with 12 saves.

Needless to say, added Hutter, the entire PHS defense played well. Karsten Hilpert played a solid game, he said, and another defenseman, Tad Kinchla, scored Princeton's second goal and assisted on two others.

"In the third period we spread it out more; we passed the puck better," said Hutter.

Following a scoreless first period, PHS sophomore Abel Kahn scored the opening goal in the second off a rebound. Then, after Kinchla scored in the third period to put PHS up by two goals, Alex Klein broke the spirit of the Spartans when he scored a short-handed goal, assisted by Jared Bilanin and Kinchla. Chris Healey added Princeton's final goal.

There was, summed up Hutter, a vast improvement in the Little Tigers' game in the third period.

Early Goals Pave Way For PHS Ice Hockey Win

Scoring two goals in the first minute of play, the Princeton High hockey team won its second game in two starts Monday when it skated past Hopewell Valley, 4-2.

Tad Kinchla scored an unassisted goal 55 seconds into the game and when newcomer Jason Battle scored off the faceoff five seconds later, the Little Tigers were up by two goals.

The rest of the contest was even, as the Bulldogs outshot PHS, 20-15. Hopewell's Trevor Marciante cut Princeton's lead in half with his second-period goal, but Battle netted his second 57 seconds into the third period off an assist by Jared Bilanin to put the Blue and White up by two again.

Less than five minutes later Marciante scored his second goal to cut the margin to a single goal again. Bilanin answered with his first goal of the season with 5:41 left to play to seal the outcome.

PHS's Angus Guberman had 18 saves for the Little Tigers, while Rob Landolina had 13 for Hopewell, which dropped to 0-2.

PHS Matmen Are Away For Season's Opener

Matt Wilkinson and Keith Wadsworth return for the fifth year as coaches of the Princeton High wrestling team which will open its season on Friday when it takes on prep school Wardlaw at the Wardlaw campus.

There is a familiarity about the prospects for the Little Tigers, too. "If we can put everybody in the right slots, we will probably have the most balanced team since I've been coaching," said Wilkinson. "On paper, we have a lot of potential. But any injuries, sickness or defections could wipe us out. It's the same old story."

PHS WRESTLING CAPTAINS: Co-captains of the Princeton High wrestling team this year are Jim Brophy (left), who will compete at 160 pounds, and Garret Morris, who will wrestle in the 189-pound division. Both are seniors.

From a team that finished 8-4 last year — one of the school's best efforts — Wilkinson and Wadsworth lose two outstanding performers: captain Lawrence Mansier and heavyweight Will Dickerson. But they have eight returning seniors plus seven freshmen, five of whom have wrestling experience. "That's new for us," said Wilkinson.

The team is co-captained by Garret Morris, who will compete at 189 pounds and who was 10-9 last year. Morris has just come off a fine year on the football field, where he was also a co-captain of the Little Tiger team that won the Valley Division of the CVC. Jim Brophy, 9-10 last year, is the other co-captain. He will compete at 152 or 160 pounds.

The remaining seniors all possess solid credentials. Vincent Franze finished third in the Mercer County Tournament last year in compiling a 12-7 record. He is slotted at 119 or 125 pounds. Jason Kirby, who split 18 bouts last year, took a third place in the Ewing Tournament, and will wrestle in either the 135- or 145-pound division. Matt Pickens is starting his fourth year on the varsity. Winner of eight matches last year, he is also a contender in the overloaded 135-145 pound classes.

Two other seniors returning are Matt Curran and Guy Romain. Curran won 11 of 24 matches, finished fifth in the County Tournament and is slotted at 171 pounds. Guy Romain, new to the sport last year, used his strength to get off to a fast start and finished with a 10-4 record last winter. He will compete at 189 pounds with Morris, possibly moving up to heavyweight.

Shawn Reddy is another senior who will be striving to improve on the two wins he recorded last year. His possible weights are 125 or 130.

Two juniors are expected to make the Little Tigers a contender in the Valley Division. First, mark the name Adam Basatemur. As the season progressed last year, Basatemur got better and gained more confidence with each succeeding match. He finished 12-9-1, placed third in the County Tournament and fourth in the NJSIAA District 17 tournament.

Junior Alex Weinberg was another suprise — a pleasant surprise — when he won half of his 20 matches. He will probably compete at 130 pounds.

The team's most renowned wrestler is only a sophomore, Ian Reddy. Reddy fashioned a 6-4 record in league competition but then vaulted into prominence when he placed first in a State Freestyle meet and seventh in a National Freestyle meet for high school students in Minnesota. Reddy is slotted at 103 pounds.

Two other sophomores new to the program are Garrett Roberts, 152 pounds, and heavyweight Robert Pisaro, a transfer student from Brazil, where he was a goalie on a soccer team and competed in judo.

"He's a good athlete," said Wilkinson.

New to the program are senior Jerome Uzzeni, junior Matt Weiss and freshmen Noah Kantor, Grant Cooper, Nick Brown, Dennis Spring, and Dan Fernholz. Two freshmen who have considerable experience with the middle school Recreation Team are Nick Sferra (125-130), a captain of the team who compiled a 15-4 record, and Steve Lutkowski (140-145), who also finished 15-4 and was, like Sferra, a team captain.

On Saturday PHS will also compete in a new tournament, the Elizabeth Invitational, a one-day event, starting at 10:30, involving eight teams. Trenton High is the only other school from this area to compete in the event.

"I think we're ready," summed up Wilkinson. "If everything falls into place, it could be a good year."

PHS Girls Bow 104-81 In Opening Swim Meet

The Princeton High girls' swim team opened its season last week under new coach Lynn Blomberg by bowing to Lawrenceville, 104-81. It was the first meet for both schools.

PHS will face Hun on Friday at 3:45 and then will be idle until January 3.

Christine Jensen and Gabrielle Devereux were the top scorers for the Little Tigers. Jensen won the 100 free in 55:29 and the 100 back in 1:02.48; Devereux captured the 200 and 500 freestyle events in 1:59.42 and 5:19.56. Both then joined Alice Potts and Rachel Medina to capture the 200 free relay event in 1:49.63 in a close event. Lawrenceville was timed in 1:50.30.

The sophomore Potts won the 200 IM in 2:21.7 and finished second in the 100 behind Lawrenceville's Minnie Shu. Potts was timed in 1:07.17, Shu in 1:04.77.

Another Little Tiger sophomore, Erika Georgs, captured the diving event by 20 points. Georgs, who says she has benefitted from 11 years of gymnastics plus private practice after last year's competition, is looking forward to meeting Hun's Paige Weiskittel, one of the area's premier divers.

Capturing thirds for PHS were Grace Nam in the 100 free and Pamela Devine in the 500 free.

PHS Girls Have Returned To the Basketball Court

They're back!

After a three year lapse, Princeton High is competing once again on a varsity level in girls' basketball.

Led by a new coach, Ron Antoniotti, a science teacher at John Witherspoon School, the Little Tigers will open at home on Friday afternoon when they host Hopewell Valley in a 3:45 contest. Tuesday evening at 7, the team will travel to McCorristin High.

Three years ago, after a succession of losing seasons, interest in the sport had eroded to the point where former coach Joyce Jones did not have enough players to support a team. The rebuilding challenge that confronts Antoniotti, who has had considerable coaching experience in the sport both in New Jersey and abroad, is immense.

"When I start any new system, I don't know what it's going to be like, I don't know what the competition will be like," said Antoniotti. "It takes time. The only thing I can say is we have quickness, we have desire, we have heart. I am just happy the way the girls are practicing.

"The rebuilding is starting now," added Antoniotti. "I feel we have the potential. I think we are going to be competitive, but it is going to be tough."

The numbers are back up again. Antoniotti has a squad consisting of three seniors, five juniors, seven sophomores and, most encouraging for the future, 20 to 23 freshmen. A few others continue to trickle in, he said.

Because everything is so new he was reluctant to discuss names but he allowed that five who will see action are senior Joan Sullivan, junior Marci Procaccini and sophomore Cathy Neuger — all members of the PHS girls' soccer team. Two others are junior Nikki Gorog and Jenny Terpstra, the latter a six-foot sophomore.

Antoniotti coached a girls team at Madison High School for a year and for the past eight has coached a variety of teams in Ireland: an Irish National Team for boys up to 15 and four women's teams, including three club teams and a high school team. For the past two years he coached in a pro league for men in the Irish National League where his team reached the final eight.

At Princeton High, Antoniotti is assisted by Trenton State College senior Lisa Wagner, who is handling the freshmen and jayvee teams. He is, he concluded, "very excited" about the prospect of coaching the girls team here.

Hun Quintet Successful In Peddie Title Defense

In the 18th annual Peddie School Invitational Tournament held last weekend, the Hun School successfully defended its championship, edging previously-unbeaten Hill School 70-69 on Sunday in the title game.

The championship was a record No. 5 for the Raiders, who in addition to 1989 and '90 also won the title in 1981 and '82 and in 1978. Sunday's triumph marked the second year in a row that Hun won the championship game by one point. Hill School, from Pottstown, Pa., was playing in the title game for the first time.

Hun's 5-9 junior guard, Deon Hames, who scored 63 points in three games, was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. Hun's other standout backcourt player, junior Rashawne Glenn, connected for 60 points in the tournament, including a game-high 24 in the championship game.

———

To reach the finals of the eight-team event, Hun had defeated Dalton, 60-48, at the Peddie gym on Saturday and dispatched Valley Forge, 80-63, in Friday's opening round.

The three wins were the fifth in a row for Hun, after an opening loss to Penn Charter.

Winning the championship again means a lot for the players on the team, commented Hun coach Kevin Long. "It is good for the program and good for the kids coming into the program."

Hun will keep active. It will oppose Princeton Day School this Wednesday afternoon and then participate in its second of three tournaments this month, the Solebury Invitational this Friday and Saturday.

In Sunday's title game, Hill School jumped off to a nine-point lead in the first period. Hun whittled away at it. The score was tied eight times before Hun pulled away to a 61-56 lead at the start of the final period. But the Pennsylvania school refused to fold. Hill's senior guard, Steve Eidle, scored 11 of his team's 13 points in the final eight minutes to keep the outcome in doubt up to the final seconds.

After free throws by Hames and Courtney Fitch had given Hun a 70-67 lead with 2:42 to go, Hill's Brad Pursel stole the ball and went in for a layup to cut the lead to 70-69 with less than a minute to play.

Hun tried to hold the ball but Hill was able to gain possession one last time when Mike Vaughn tied up Andy Aldi with 12 seconds left. Eidle tried to lay the ball in from underneath the basket. It refused to drop and Hun's 6-6 center, Matt Deering, grabbed the rebound to preserve the win.

"They're a good basketball team. We weren't surprised they came back after we had them down by nine," said Long. "We had our opportunities but they're quick, very quick," countered Hill coach Don Ronnie. Their 24 [Glenn] killed us on shots all through the game."

Hames and Glenn combined for 50 points and Mike Williams and Matt Deering added 15 more to account for nearly all of the Hun scoring. Deering and Williams were effective on the boards for Hun, Deering pulling down 12 rebounds and Williams seven.

gered Dalton early and often. Its pressure defense led to turnovers and the Hun fast-breaking offense took over from there. Hun led 38-23 at halftime. "They upset our whole tempo," said Dalton coach Allan Boyers.

Hun went flat in the second half (25 points) but still had enough cushion. It left Long wondering, however, when his Raiders were going to put two good halves together. As for the first half, Long said, "I thought we played as good as we can possibly play."

Hames connected for 26 points, his high for the year, to lead a balanced Hun attack. Glenn added 10, Williams nine and Deering five points.

In its opener, Hun was a blur out of the gate again, outscoring Valley Forge 26-11 in the first period. Glenn personally wrecked the Trojans with 11 points, two rebounds and a steal during a 12-4 run in the opening minutes. He finished with 21 points.

Team captain Williams had his best scoring game with 17 points for Hun, while Hames contributed 16, Deering 12 and sophomore Courtney Fitch 10 as Hun placed five in double figures for the first time. The loss was the second for the winless Trojans.

Hun began the week with an easy 91-74 victory over visiting Jamesburg, as all 12 players on the varsity squad scored. Glenn and Deering were high with 21 and 17 points respectively.

Hun Girls Nip Larries To Win Stuart Tourney

In a defensive battle, the Hun girls' basketball team edged defending champion Lawrenceville School, 22-21, Saturday to win the annual Stuart Tip Off Tournament. The win was the fourth in a row this season for the unbeaten Hun team.

Earlier in the day in the semifinals, Hun had defeated Mt. St. Dominic's 44-24 at the Princeton Day School gym. In its opening round contest on Friday, it ran over Peddie, 55-17.

"It's always nice to beat Lawrenceville," said Hun coach Dennis Lepold. He attributed the low score in the championship game to good defense by both teams and a fatigue factor. "We both had to play earlier in the day and our shooting was off. When the legs start to go, the shooting goes too."

"We're doing some things better," added Lepold. "We're rebounding better and we're playing real tough defense."

One phase of the game that still has to click in, Lepold feels, is that Hun has to be "smoother and quicker on the offensive end of the court. But that takes a while. Right now, I am pleased with the way we are playing."

Sophomore Allison Williams and junior Becky Jensen were the offensive standouts for Hun in the tourney. Although Jensen struggled through a one-for-nine effort in the first half against Lawrenceville, it was her basket in the final minute that was the winning one. The Hun defense held Lawrenceville to one basket in the final period. In the third period, Lawrenceville's Carole Kostrzewa had scored nine of her team's 11 points to give the Big Red a 19-17 lead at the start of the final period.

Williams had nine points to lead Hun, while Jensen finished with six. Sophomore Jennifer Pontani had five points and went 6-5-5 for the tourney. Her ball handling and key baskets drew praise from Lepold. "I think these games should help her," he said.

When Williams was hit with three fouls in the first four minutes against Mt. St. Dominic's, Jensen picked up the scoring with 20 points. Williams ended with ten. After St. Dominic's had taken a 12-9 lead in the first period, Hun held the losers to five points in the middle two periods and then went on a 17-7 tear in the final period.

Peddie offered little resistence in Hun's opening game, as the Raiders jumped to a 17-2 lead. Jensen poured in 24 points and Williams added 14. Pontani and Sarah Shields combined for 11 more as this quartet accounted for 49 of Hun's 55 points.

Hun began its season with a 38-24 victory over Villa Walsh. Jensen and Williams combined for 28 points, while Nancy Peterson and Erica Vogler contributed four each.

Hun was scheduled to oppose Villa Joseph Marie earlier this week and then oppose Mt. St. Mary away on Thursday. The Raiders will not play their home opener until they resume January 9 agninst Stuart.

Hun Grapplers Split In First Two Matches

After opening its season with a satisfying 39-30 victory over George School last week, the Hun wrestling team was brought up short Saturday by Rutgers Prep, 56-17.

Following a scheduled meet with Admiral Farragut earlier in the week, Hun will host Wardlaw on Thursday at 4:15 and then participate in the Steinert Tournament on Saturday. One of coach Jim Nehlig's goals this year is to have his Raiders capture more individual titles in tournaments.

Rutgers Prep reeled off eight consecutive victories against visiting Hun to win its first meet of the season easily. Early on, Hun gained a 6-6 tie in the match when sophomore Tucker Bodine pinned his opponent in 1:28 in their 112-pound match. Hun forfeited the next two matches and when captain Andy Nelson lost a 4-3 decision to Shawn Barber at 140 pounds, it was evident this was not going to be Hun's day.

Hun's only other points came in a double forfeit at 171 pounds and at 189 pounds where Brian Benfield raised his record to 2-0 with a 19-3 technical fall over Marc Poole.

Hun began its season with a win over George School to avenge a lopsided 52-24 loss to the Cougars last year. Ben Silverman, a 260-pound sophomore who arrived at the school two weeks ago, sealed the outcome by pinning Cougar heavyweight Mike Oliver in 56 seconds.

Bodine gained an 8-5 decision for Hun but George took the lead with forfeit wins at 119 and 125 pounds. Hun regained it with three straight pins and a decision. Kevin Fernandez pinned in 4:59 at 130 pounds, Fernano James followed with a fall in 4:27 and Amit Taylor decked Jason Sendaula in 3:17. Nelson built up an early 12-4 lead en route to a 12-7 decision in his 145-pound match.

George came right back to take the next three bouts on two pins and a decision and a 30-21 lead. Benfield, the PG from St. Peters High School where he won the Middlesex Title his senior year, defeated Brooks Cavin, 9-4, and Doug Miller won by forfeit to give Hun a 33-30 lead before Silverman's match.

Top Prep Talent on View This Weekend At Lawrenceville's Hockey Tournament

The Princeton hockey team may be in Colorado this weekend, but for fans of the sport here there'll be no shortage of topflight games to watch all day Saturday and most of Sunday.

The 43rd annual Lawrenceville Tournament will feature its usual complement of eight teams, many of them boasting players who will later show up on ECAC Division I teams, on their way to the NHL. Culver Military Academy, last year's champion, will be back to defend its title against Belmont Hill, Choate, Kent, Northfield-Mount Hermon, Nichols, St. Paul's and the host school.

The ranks of college hockey are filled with players who have appeared in the tournament, including Scott and Mark Fusco, former Harvard players, both winners of the Hobey Baker Award. This year Belmont Hill will appear with two players already drafted by the NHL, Ian Moran from Acton, Mass. and Ken Martin of Framingham, Mass. Other NHL hopefuls include Brian Lonsinger of Choate, Bret Stickney of St. Paul's and Rick Willis of Northfield-Mount Hermon. Watching them peform will be a pack of scouts from Division I colleges and NHL scouts.

Action gets under way at 9 a.m. Saturday with games at both Lavino and Baker Rinks. Culver will meet St. Paul's at Baker and Lawrenceville will host Kent at Lavino. Following at 11 a.m., Choate will meet Nichols at Baker, and Northfield-Mt. Hermon will face Belmont Hill on Lavino ice.

Losers will play mid-afternoon consolation games at Lawrenceville, while the winners will advance to the semi-final rounds set for 7 and 9 p.m. Saturday night. Action will resume at 9 a.m. Sunday morning, with the Erdman Memorial Championship final set for 2 p.m.

A $5 ticket covers admission to all games at both rinks.

PDS Boys Win 2 of 3 Last Week in Basketball

A one-point win over Rutgers Prep and a split in a strong field of eight in the Peddie Tournament, enabled the Princeton Day basketball team to start its season winning two of three games.

The Panthers drew a tough team in Friday's opening round at Peddie, falling to a Hill team that got to the finals before losing to defending champion Hun. The Blue and White kept pace with Hill, through almost three quarters, but defensive lapses late in the third allowed the Rams to break the game open.

They had a 64-54 lead at the start of the fourth, and steadily expanded that to an 82-69 finish. James Reed played superbly for PDS, scoring 25 points; Chris Jones added 11, and Gary Moore had 10.

"We got beat on so many basic, fundamental things," lamented PDS coach Maura Kelly. "We got beat on lay-ups; we gave up the baseline. We'd catch the ball and let them strip us. These are things we just don't do."

The next afternoon PDS had regrouped and gave a much better performance, against a weaker team, defeating host Peddie, 59-48. The Blue and White started quickly, building an 18-10 lead after the first period. It then put the contest away, limiting the Falcons to just two points over the next 12 minutes, while scoring 15.

Reed followed up his 25-point effort with 26. Jones had nine, Harvey Bradley and David Wise chipped in with seven apiece.

The 51-50 victory over Rutgers Prep in the season's opener wasn't assured until the home team missed a desperation shot at the buzzer. Jones had broken a tie, when he sank one of two free throws with eight seconds left.

Reed led the way with 17 points, followed by Jones with 14 and Wise with 10. PDS fell behind the Argonauts, 13-9, at the end of the first period, but rallied to take a 28-27 lead at the half. It was nip and tuck throughout the second half with the teams ending the third period tied at 42 apiece.

PDS Girls' Basketball Wins Two, Loses One

The Princeton Day girls' basketball team got off to an easy start against Villa Victoria, and then split its two games in the Stuart Tip-Off Tournament last weekend.

The 2-1 Panthers lost to Greenwich, 30-26, in Friday's opener, but rebounded to defeat Stuart, 52-32, in the consolation round. The Blue and White will face Mount St. Dominick's this Saturday away and Mount St. Mary's Tuesday at home, before Christmas break.

Coach Jill Thomas had four of her top five players from last year's Prep A champion graduate last June, and is working with a young squad this winter. The lone holdover is Sarah Berkman. The inexperience showed up against Greenwich, where the team played good defense, but nobody wanted to do the shooting on offense.

The team took only seven shots in the first half, and trailed 15-9. Things opened up a bit more in the second, but PDS never did catch up. "When you hold the other team to 30 points, you should win," commented Thomas. "We have to learn to put the ball up when the opportunity is there."

Berkman led the team with six points, Rachel Bridgeman and Dafina Whitt tallied five each.

DWYER GOES FOR TWO: Princeton Day freshman Molly Dwyer goes for two points in the consolation game against Stuart last Saturday. Ready for the rebound is Stuart's MaryKate Scanlan.

Against Stuart the next afternoon, PDS again started slowly, leading only 7-6 at the end of the first period. But led by Berkman (11 points) and Aly Cohen (10 points), the Panthers scored in double figures each of the next three periods.

Bridgeman contributed eight points, and Tricia Frank had seven, as nine players scored for PDS.

In the season's opener, the Panthers ho-hummed their way to a 53-8 win over a Villa Victoria team that barely knew how to shoot a basket, much less do anything else.

It was 18-0 PDS after the opening quarter, and Thomas was kept busy inserting one substitute after another into the contest. In what might be a record if such mundane stats were kept, 19 Panther players saw action, and 11 scored.

Berkman got 12 early, the only player in double figures, and sat down. Whitt added eight, Aly Cohen and Kyra Skvir six apiece, and Frank, four.

PDS Hockey Splits Pair Against 2 High Schools

The Princeton Day hockey team might have thought, might have hoped, it would be 2-0 after games against two area high schools last week.

Instead the Panthers are 1-1, after a 9-3 win against Hightstown, and a 5-4 overtime loss to Lawrence. They got away with an undisciplined style of play against the weaker Ram team, but Lawrence took advantage of the Panthers' mistakes.

In the three games before Christmas break, coach Bill Minter will be working to get his players to play more position hockey, and avoid things like having all three forwards going after the puck behind the opponent's goal.

"We have too many guys trying to go end to end with the puck," Minter commented. "It was like peewee hockey out there."

After a game against Morristown-Beard this past Tuesday, the Blue and White will meet Notre Dame at 5 this Friday and Academy of New Church next Wednesday. After the Christmas break, the schedule gets a lot tougher.

Last Friday, Lawrence came to the PDS rink minus two of its defensemen, but the Cardinals made a few adjustments, and their female goalie, Liz Smith, played extremely well in goal. After a scoreless first period, Charlie Baker got PDS off to a good start, skating out of the left corner with the puck unguarded and firing the puck past Smith in the first minute of the second.

The visitors tied the score just 16 seconds later, took a 2-1 lead on a power play tally at 6:57 and went ahead 3-1 at 9:43. The Panthers got one back on a power play goal by Steve Eaton, assisted by Mark Trowbridge and Baker, and then tied the score at 3-3 when Tim Babbitt scored, assisted by Campbell Levy.

Lawrence went ahead 4-3 early in the third, and it took some last-second heroics by the Panthers to avoid defeat in regulation time. Minter pulled goalie Navroze Alphonse in favor of a sixth skater, and the gamble paid off when Hobey Hare got a rebound of a shot hy Trowbridge and put the puck past Smith.

That sent the game into overtime, but one more mistake by PDS sealed its defeat. With one defenseman committed deep in the offensive zone, and the other players not covering for him, Lawrence got a loose puck and scored on a breakaway.

"They had some good skaters out there, and it took us a while to realize that," commented Minter. "We didn't give them the respect they deserved. The Cardinals only had 15 shots on goal to 27 for PDS, but theirs were the high percentage variety.

Hightstown Humbled

The opening victory last Wednesday came pretty much as expected against a weak Hightstown team that had trouble right in front of its own net. The Rams repeatedly left PDS forwards alone in that area, and it cost them.

Baker got things rolling in the first period, with his first of three goals, a backhand shot from 10 feet away. Minutes later freshman Patrick Regan got his varsity career off to a smashing start with his first of two goals, a deflection of a blast from the point by Trowbridge. Had not the Panthers missed a few more point blank shots, it might have been 5-0 by the end of the first period.

Meanwhile at the other end, Hightstown could manage just one shot on net against Alphonse, despite two power play opportunities. This all combined to take the Panthers out of their game, as thoughts of points overrode those of disciplined defense. It allowed the visitors to score their first goal early in the second to cut the margin to 2-1.

However, the Blue and White had little to worry about for long, scoring three goals in the space of 40 seconds. Regan got his second, knocking in the rebound of a shot by Jud Henderson; Levy fed Baker for his second; and Patrick Kerney completed the barrage.

The Rams again scored to open the third, and again the Panthers responded with a three-goal barrage, Kerney getting his second, Baker his third, and Hobey Hare his first. After one more Hightstown goal, Trowbridge, who also racked up three assists, ended the scoring. Eaton, Jud Henderson, and Levy had multiple assists.

Restoration

restored to its original appearance. A new addition is proposed to be added to the back of this building to accommodate a new restaurant with a terrace in front. In addition to restoring Zorba's, Thomas Sweet and the Wadsworth Bakery, the redevelopment plan proposes to convert the second and third floor apartment areas into six office spaces and to provide basement space for the retail operations.

According to Mr. Travisano, there is basement space under only one of the buildings at present. In back, the buildings will have one, two and three stories, and a five-foot service alley will be provided between the new addition and the existing 183 Nassau Street building. Three new trees will provide screening from the service area, which will be relocated to the back.

Increase in Square Feet

There will be an increase in the total building square footage of about 1700 square feet, of which 1100 square feet is basement, Mr. Travisano said. Regret was expressed by some of the board members, notably Ellen Stark, for the loss of apartments, but Ray Wadsworth, owner/operator of Wadsworth's Gourmet Bakery, said that he had been concerned about the safety of residents living above the kitchen of a bakery and that having office space there would relieve his mind.

Mr. Wadsworth was more concerned about the inability of the wood of his front porch to hold paint, and he hoped the University would remove the front porch altogether and start anew. Eugene McPartland, vice president of facilities, said the University was committed to an investment in the buildings that was substantially above the amount that it would receive from insurance. He said the University had had a difficult time renting the apartments in the buildings, because of noise and a resistance to living above food serving establishments.

He said the University hoped to begin demolition as soon as it receives site plan approval from the Planning Board so that more accurate measurements can be made. The buildings are too unsafe presently to allow the architect to make accurate measurements, he explained. With better information, the University hopes to start construction in the spring.

Mr. McPartland also said the office space would be marketed but he did not preclude University use.

Renovation on Alexander

In other business, the Planning Board approved the application of Birch Tree Group to renovate a building at 180 Alexander Street next to Grover Lumber. The building will be converted from storage to office space and conference room, storage space and support space. Birch Tree Group, now owned by Warner Bros., is a music puhlisher.

The improvements will not alter the size of the structure and will not increase the number of employees, visitors, or deliveries. Exterior renovations include new windows, new doors, copper canopies, light fixtures and painting of the hrick face.

The existing driveway in the front will be planted in grass and birch trees.

In addition, the Planning Board gave its approval with conditions to Stony Brook Regional Sewage Authority for the construction of a new nitrification settling tank. The new tank will be the fourth such tank and will be used on a substitute basis to permit cleaning, maintenance and retrofitting of the other three tanks.

Nassau Inn Lien

Nassau Inn's tax appeal because it had not paid its back taxes. At that time, it owed the Borough $614,000. The Inn has since paid $296,933.

The unpaid taxes are on two separate lots. The amount of $164,094 is owed on Lot 83, and $152,972 is owed on Lot 68.

According to Nelson Zager, innkeeper at the Nassau Inn, the hotel is doing well. He reported in October that occupancy was up 13 points over last year, to about 73 percent. Food and beverage sales, too, have been good, he said.

"I have never believed the inn is losing money," said Borough Mayor Marvin Reed. "Occupancy is up and business is up. It may be a problem going back a couple of years, or it may be a problem with the rest of Collins Corporation. I know they are in difficulty with their residential, but they are doing well in retail."

Mr. Perkins, who is retired, said it "felt great" to have been the winning bidder. Asked why he bought the lien, he said, "I just thought it was a good idea."

There is speculation that Mr. Perkins is acting as a friend of Collins in purchasing the lien. If no one had bid, the lien would have continued to be held by the Borough, at 18 percent interest. In addition, the Borough could have instituted foreclosure proceedings in six months.

Bidding began at 18 percent interest, which was bid by Mr. Perkins. Another bid came in at 17 percent, and Mr. Perkins bid 16 percent. This scenario was the same for both lots.

Lien on Keller House

Borough landlord Sanford Zeitler was the successful bidder for two tax liens at 264 Nassau Street, in the total amount of $13,883. This property, recently restored and owned by Eric Keller, consists of the former Gulf station and the house moved from across Nassau Street and attached to the stone gas station building.

Mr. Zeitler also purchased a tax lien of $8,857 for 16 Lafayette Road West, a property owned by Lorraine Mead Bass. In both cases, Mr. Zeitler bid 18 percent interest.

The Borough was the successful bidder on a $3,807 tax lien at 100 Leigh Avenue, a property owned by the Witherspoon-Jackson Development Corp. This is in line with the Borough's efforts to acquire property for its affordable housing program, and also to keep appropriate properties out of the speculative market.

Helistop

warded to the Transportation Commissioner, who has the authority to accept it, modify it or reject it, based on the record.

In addition to the public hearing Thursday night, Judge Masin will hear evidence presented by the Township and by Church & Dwight at three days of hearings which have been scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, January 23, 24 and 25, in the Valley Road building. However, the Township has asked for a stay of these hearings so that the matter may be referred to the Township Zoning Board as a planning and zoning matter. The Township's request for a Zoning Board hearing was denied by Judge Masin and has been appealed to Transportation Commissioner Tom Downs, who has the authority to overrule Judge Masin on issues that come up in the course of the hearings as well as the final decision.

If the case does not go before the Township Zoning Board first, the three-day evidentiary hearing will proceed as scheduled in January, starting at 9 a.m. each morning, and the public is welcome to attend.

Thursday night's hearing was an opportunity for the public who may not be able to attend daytime hearings to make their concerns known. Each speaker was sworn to tell the truth, there was a court stenographer taking down every word, and all that was said will be part of the record for the final decision.

Like a Bus Stop

To open the hearing, J. Michael Nolan Jr., attorney for Church & Dwight, told the public that a helistop is like a bus stop for helicopters, a concrete pad on which helicopters land to discharge passengers. It will have little blue lights like those one sees at Newark Airport and a wind cone and be located behind the Church & Dwight offices, not visible from the road. There will be no refueling, no maintenance facilities and no hangars, Mr. Noland said.

He went on to point out on an aerial photo the one flight path from the north that would be used and that would be regulated hy the state. He is expected to present more information and witnesses to develop Church & Dwight's "case" for a helistop at the hearings in January, just as the Township attorneys will also present testimony and experts in opposition to the helistop.

Mayor Kate Litvack, Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand, Committeeman Richard Woodhridge and Committeewoman-elect Ellen Souter all spoke against the helistop last week. "I don't know of anyone in the community who supports this except Mr. Dwight Minton," Mrs. Marchand declared. Mr. Minton, a Princeton resident, is chairman and chief executive officer of the company.

Noting that other companies and Princcton University use existing helistop facilities to hring guests who include presidents of companies and eminent scholars she said, "I beseech Mr. Minton to do the same." Later in the evening she pointed out that he was not in the audience and surmised that he was "too embarrassed" to be there.

26 Speak Against

Some 26 people spoke against the helistop, out of the 65 to 70 who attended. Steve Slaby, a Princeton University civil engineering professor who was involved in an earlier application for a helipad in the Township which resulted in the Township adopting an ordinance against helipads, called the Church & Dwight application "frivolous and irresponsible" and a violation of the Township zoning law.

"This is not a hardship case. It is being pushed by company executives for their convenience." Pointing out that the zoning law had been democratically passed, Mr. Slaby urged the judge to "reject the application and uphold the law of Princeton Township — otherwise our laws become a sham."

Addressing the Church & Dwight representatives in the audience, he said, "We just don't want it. Why do you persist?"

Residents along nearby Terhune Road, Ewing Street, Randall Road, Grover Avenue, Valley Road and All Saints' Road spoke of the noise generated by existing helicopters and the potential danger from accidents. Edward Eicher, 396 Terhune Road, some 630 feet from the traffic pattern, said that no company can guarantee the safety of helicopters and that they posed a danger to all homes on Terhune Road.

Robert Hosford, 430 Terhune Road, said he hoped the outcome would not depend solely on New Jersey state laws and "an exchange of legalistic briefs." "How is it Church & Dwight is not getting the message," he asked, when a petition with 350 names was submitted earlier in the year. "Most corporations have learned to their peril that stonewalling the public is out of date, particularly for a company with a huge investment in consumer goods," Mr. Hosford remarked.

John Clearwater, an attorney for the developer of Governor's Lane, a new development of 65 large townhomes off Terhune Road, spoke of the relationship of cost to benefit and added, "Why impose this kind of facility for so little benefit?" Mr. Clearwater asked. "The inconvenience far outweighs any benefit. Our concern is for their {Church & Dwight's} lack of concern.

Calling the proposal "unmitigated arrogance," William Stephenson, a Governor's Lane resident, said Church & Dwight was throwing away stockholders' money and urged everyone present to write letters to the shareholders and directors and to boycott the company's products. "Let them know this won't be tolerated," Mr. Stephenson said.

There were speakers from as far away as Dogwood Lane, Autumn Hill Road, Stuart Road and Southern Way, and at the door to the meeting room a pile of bumper stickers for "Chopper Stoppers" to affix to their cars.

A QUAKER CALL FOR PEACE IN THE PERSIAN GULF

For over 300 years, Quakers have relied on principles of nonviolence and simplicity and on a belief in "that of God in every person"--that is, the absolute value of every human life. Those principles serve as our guide as we respond to the crisis in the Persian Gulf. We speak not only for Quakers but for the millions of Americans appalled by the prospect of a Middle East war. We condemn Iraq's unjustified invasion of Kuwait. We call on Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait and to participate in a peaceful, negotiated settlement.

We call on the United States to:

* Take no offensive military action.
  An attack against Iraq will cause many deaths and much suffering among both soldiers and civilians. And even a U.S "victory" would create more problems than it would solve.

* Start withdrawing U.S. troops, to be replaced as needed by U.N. peacekeeping forces.
  The massive U.S. force in the Persian Gulf is not needed for defensive purposes. The presence of so many U.S. troops in the region creates rather than prevents danger, raising the risk that we will be drawn into war.

* Rely on diplomatic solutions.
  Lasting peace in the Middle East can be achieved only through a negotiated settlement of the Iraq-Kuwait dispute. While sanctions may be one way to promote a settlement, we oppose withholding food and medicine as inhumane.

* Stop supplying arms to Middle East countries.
  By supplying billions of dollars worth of armaments to Middle East countries, the U.S. bears much of the responsibility for the current explosive instability in the region.

* Immediately begin a major conservation effort and develop a new energy policy that emphasizes alternative energy sources.
  Americans must recognize the extent to which our wasteful modes of living have contributed to this crisis. The U.S., with only 2% of the world's population, consumes 25% of its oil.

* Cut the military budget and meet human needs.
  The U.S. has already spent billions of dollars in the Persian Gulf. A war could cost a staggering $1 billion a day. We need to reorder our budget priorities, cutting defense spending drastically and devoting limited resources to health, education, housing, and other pressing needs.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

Write or call President Bush, Senators Bradley and Lautenberg, and your Congressional representative. (The Capitol Switchboard is 202-224-3121).

Tell them that you oppose war with Iraq and that the U.S. should start withdrawing troops and rely on diplomatic solutions.

University Chapel Choir Sings Christmas Vespers

The Princeton University Chapel Choir, conducted by Prof. Walter Nollner, will sing its annual Christmas Vespers service Sunday at 2 in the University Chapel. The service is open to the public, and all are invited

The principal work to be offered is the Vesperae de Dominica by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, written for the cathedral in Salzburg in 1779. About 30 minutes in duration, it is scored for chorus, orchestra and soloists.

Also to be heard will be four pastorellas from middle Europe of the 17th and 18th centuries. A special genre of work composed for Christmas services, these are carol-like pieces for chorus, soloists and instruments that rely heavily on pastoral melodies, quasi-folk instruments, and other musical ingredients commonly associated with the Christmas season.

The soloists will he drawn from the Chapel Choir membership. The orchestra is made up of players from the Princeton University Orchestra, as well as from the ranks of local professional instrumentalists. The liturgist for the service will be the Rev. Dr. Joseph C. Williamson, Dean of the Princeton University Chapel, and the service will include a numher of readings appropriate to the season.

There will be congregational singing of several of the better-known Christmas carols from the American and European Christmas traditions.

Bulletin Notes

Trinity Church will hold its annual service of Advent lessons and music hy candlelight Sunday at 4:30 p.m.

The music will be led by Trinity's choir of men, boys and girls conducted by John Bertalot. The choir will sing a program of international Advent music by Russian, German, Italian and English composers.

Members of the Church School at Kingston Presbyterian Church will present a Christmas play entitled "The Christmas Guest" Sunday at 9:30 in the sanctuary. During the 11 a.m. worship hour, following the presentation, the Rev. John Heinsohn, pastor, will preach a sermon entitled "David's Finest Hour," based on I Samuel 24:1-5, and new members will be received.

Jewish Center students will participate in a Chanukah Festival on Sunday. They will choose two workshops from a list of available opportunities, including making clay menorahs and wooden dreidles, making Chanukah decorations and puzzles, cooking latkes, story telling, entering a Chanukah howl and attending a Chanukah press conference.

The workshops will be led by teachers on the staff. Holiday treats will be provided by the Women's Division, Barhara Demsky, president. The festival is being coordinated hy Dr. Shoshana Silherman, educational director.

The 4th grade classes will present a version of Fiddler on the Roof written for children by Dr. Silherman and directed by Nancy Lewis. The musical director is Cantor Rohert Freedman.

The Rev. Dr. Berniee Albertine King, youngest child of the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., will be at Trenton War Memorial Saturday at 7 headlining the "Women of the 90's" program sponsored by the Women of Galilee Baptist Church in Trenton, where the Rev. John H. Harris Jr. is pastor.

Ms. King was ordained into the Christian ministry in May 1990. She expects to integrate her legal, psychological and theological training by incorporating pastoral counseling into juvenile prison ministry.

Presently she is employed as a law clerk for Judge Glenda Johnson of the Fulton County Juvenile Court in Atlanta, Ga., and serves as chairperson for the National Advisory Committee for the National King Week College and University Student Conference on Kingian Nonviolence.

Tickets for the program can be obtained from Ace Record Shop in Trenton, 393-7669, or hy phoning the church at 392-9898.

OBITUARIES

William L. McLean, of 18 Dempsey Avenue, died of cancer on December 7 at Princeton Medical Center. He was 57 years old, and in his 30th year as a member of the faculty of the Department of Physics and Astronomy at Rutgers University.

He was born in New Zealand, and lived there until he became a graduate student at Cambridge University in England, where he received the Ph.D. degree in 1960. He was widely known for his work on the low-temperature properties of metals, especially those related to superconductivity. He was a respected teacher, always ready to share his deep understanding of his field.

There will be a memorial service on Saturday at 11 in All Saints' Church. A commemoration at Rutgers is planned for a later time.

A memorial fund has been set up at Rutgers, to be used for the Mathematics and Science Learning Center. Prof. McLean taught there until a few weeks ago and was a strong supporter of its programs. Checks marked "McLean Memorial Fund" and made out to the Rutgers University Foundation may be sent to the Foundation at 191 College Avenue, New Brunswick 08903.

John C. Jones, 75, died December 10 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Princeton, he was a lifelong Princeton resident who retired in 1978 from RCA Laboratories where he had been employed for 35 years. Mr. Jones was an avid golfer.

Son of the late Ella and Charles Jones, he is survived by a sister, Lillian J. Tetty of Princeton; and two brothers, Charles W. Jones of Plainsboro and Albert K. Jones of Princeton.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 10 from Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue. Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 11 at St. Paul's Church with burial in Princeton Cemetery. Friends are invited to call this Wednesday from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Paul's Church, 214 Nassau Street, Princeton 08542, or Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, PO Box 529, Princeton 08542.

Agnes Maloney Alexander, 83, died December 1 at Princeton Medical Center. Born in Perth Amboy, she lived in the Fords section of Woodbridge before moving to Princeton nine years ago.

Wife of the late Charles Alexander, who died in 1985, she is survived by a son, John C. Alexander, M.D. of Princeton; three grandchildren, Laurel, Jennifer and Anna Alexander; and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at Our Lady of Peace in the Fords section of Woodbridge Township, with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery, Perth Amboy.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Patrick Long wishes to express our sincere thanks to everyone who attended the service, sent flowers, cards, letters and charitable donations, or in any way helped us in our recent bereavement.

There will be a Service of Lessons and Carols in celebration of Christmas at Westerly Road Church on Sunday, at 6:30 p.m. The service will feature both the Children's Choir under the leadership of Judith Raines and the Adult Choir, directed hy Robert Doll.

A Christmas reception will follow in the church's reception area, and nursery will be provided throughout the evening.

For information call the church office at 924-3816.

The combined choirs of Queenship of Mary, Plainsboro Community, and First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro will gather at First Presbyterian Church, 500 Plainsboro Road, Plainsboro, to participate in the Third Annual Choir Festival.

The program consists of community singing, selections by each choir, and a joint program of music by all of the choirs singing together.

This get-together is a substitute for individual congregation community caroling — something not possible in an area as large and spread-out as Plainsboro.

The program will end with refreshments being served in the fellowship hall.

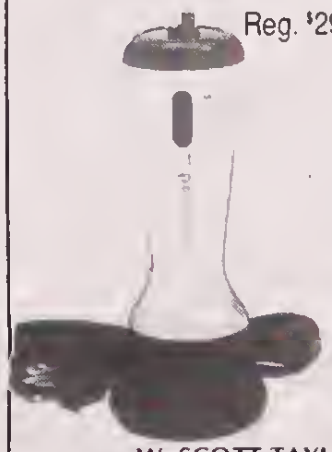
WHAT A RELIEF!
Its not Heating Pads,
Hot Water Bottles or Messy Ointments
Introducing Healthteam's Portable Infrared Heating Action... Designed for Home Use!
Thousands of satisfied customers have used this type of appliance to bring soothing relief where you need it.
Reg. $29.95 Our Price $19.95



It focuses heat directly on the painful area...deeply penetrating heat that gives soothing relief from aching muscles where you need it.

For years infrared heat has been used for fast effective pain relief. Now you can enjoy this relaxing treatment at home or away when traveling Infrared gives temporary relief from chronic minor pain of arthritis and its stiff, sore and tender joints. Infrared heat also relieves muscular pain, soreness and stiffness due to overexertion.

Only arthritis sufferers realize how miserable life can be when arthritis pain flares up. No known cure has been found yet great strides have been made by medical research.

In the meantime, it's often possible for sufferers to get hours of relief from infrared's soothing deep heat that stimulates and increases blood circulation.

"Lake front" — those magic words that promise a vista of serene blue water enhanced in the Summer by picturesque sailboats, in the Fall by the exciting crew races and in the Winter by gayly clad skaters. This house of natural cedar was designed to enjoy that view. The foyer opens to dramatic space soaring 2½ stories and stepping down to a large formal living room with a marble floor. A towering window wall overlooks the magnificent landscaped grounds terraced down to the shore line and the private dock. The formal dining room, huge informal living room with stone fireplace and the master suite with fireplaced sitting room share the view. Three bedrooms, 2 baths and a modern kitchen complete this unique home. For summer pleasure — a free form pool. In Princeton, of course.....$850,000

NEW LISTING

Big and beautiful — this spacious new house on 2 acres in "Rosedale" in nearby Lawrence has a Princeton address. Handsome double doors are framed by windows and sheltered by a large overhang. The dramatic marble floored foyer soars two floors and has a graceful stairway. It opens to rooms of expansive proportions — each enhanced by many windows— a living room, unique solarium, a huge "Great Room" with marble fireplace opening to large deck and a formal dining room. The superb kitchen would delight a gourmet chef and has a skylit breakfast room. There are 2 powder rooms. On second floor a master bedroom with the generous use of marble in the glamorous bath. Also three large bedrooms and 2 baths. If you love space, don't miss this one! $770,000

"Why did we buy at Griggs Farm?

Two reasons. First, being in business has taught us to recognize a great opportunity when we see one.

We also happen to love it here."

Jan Clancy
Paula Clancy

Owners, Clancy's Place restaurant
Princeton Shopping Center

More and more people like the Clancys are shopping the field... then choosing Griggs Farm.

Some are doing it for the money... as little as $114,500 to move in... or our excellent financing... 6-7/8% 1-yr. ARM and zero points.

Some are doing it for the Princeton schools. Or for our new tennis courts and walking paths on 26 wooded acres.

Some, like the Clancys, just happen to love it.

Visit the townhomes at Griggs Farm today. Our decorated models are open 12 - 5 daily. Or call us at (609) 683-7555 for more information.

Upstairs, a master bedroom with its own new bath and two other bedrooms and bath. Central air, garage. Secluded brick patio. Immediate occupancy. $335,000

Also for rent at $2,000 per month plus utilities

BATTLE ROAD

In perhaps Princeton's finest residential location between the Graduate College and the Institute for Advanced Study is a most attractive Mathews-built Colonial on a quiet and beautifully groomed half acre. A center entry hall adjoins a step-down living room w/bay window and fireplace, formal dining room w/fireplace, solarium/study w/bluestone floor and views through wide windows to the terrace and garden, plus a kitchen, breakfast room, first floor bedroom and bath, and powder room. Upstairs, there is a master suite with its own dressing room and bath, plus three other bedrooms and three baths. For the gardener, a small modern greenhouse off the dining room plus a heated potting shed off the two-car garage.

Offered at $895,000

LOVERS LANE

This picturesque shingled Victorian is an Historic structure, part of the old Pyne estate, site of the present Governor's Mansion. The residence has six bedrooms, two baths plus an apartment with three rooms and bath. Special rooms include the "Stone" room, an almost all stone room including floor, two walls, and a massive stone fireplace, and billiard room, and a gracious formal dining room, 18'x20'. Attached is a two-story carriage barn with space for three cars, a huge first floor storage space and above, six additional rooms for storage or renovation. Raised deck, covered porch, and paved courtyard. All on a very private ¾ acre lot with mature shrubs and trees. $475,000

TOUCH OF CLASS

From the manicured lawns and crisp new white siding to the most tastefully decorated interior, this Pennington charmer has been maintained with great energy and care. Living room w/fireplace, dining room, eat-in kitchen, large family room plus 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. Large partially finished basement, oversized garage. $199,500

THE MARCEL BREUER HOUSE, PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY

The prototype for this dramatic contemporary was built in the garden of the Museum of Modern Art in 1949. Set on nearly four beautifully landscaped and completely private acres, the house has three bedrooms, three baths, a two-story gallery and solarium, play room, study and living room with stone fireplace. Located at the end of a private lane this is truly a gem of a house. NEW PRICE... $585,000
